Witness Ties Others To Mitchell in Case

NEW YORK (AP)—The man on trial with Newburgh City Manager Joseph Mitchell has been quoted by a prosecution witness as saying five Newburgh city councilmen and Mitchell wanted $20,000 in connection with a rezoning matter.

The witness said he was told that the Newburgh Planning Commission chairman also figured in the deal.

Mitchell, 41, and Lawrence J. Di Masi Jr., 42, a Hillsdale, N.J., real estate man, are charged with bribery and conspiracy in their trial in State Supreme Court.

They are accused of demanding $20,000 from two brothers who wanted a zoning change for property they own in Newburgh.

Tuesday Testimony

One of the brothers, Stephen Wahrhaftig of Monticello testified Tuesday that Di Masi told him: "Everyone has a little larceny in them (sic) and you know the city council meets in a week to rezone our property and they want $20,000."

The witness said he asked Di Masi who "they" were, and the real estate man replied: "The six people."

Implicates Council

The witness added: "I asked what six people and he said, 'five and one make six—the five people on the city council and Mr. Mitchell.'"

Wahrhaftig testified the conversation took place last Nov. 29 when he and his twin brother, Joseph, met with Mitchell, Di Masi and an attorney in the Hotel Washington in Newburgh.

The witness said Mitchell left the gathering, remarking to Di Masi, "you deliver the message to the boys."

Di Masi nodded and soon began explaining that it would require a large cash fee to insure rezoning of the property on which the brothers wanted to build a housing development, Wahrhaftig testified.

Makes Protest

Di Masi then made his reference to "the five city councilmen, the witness continued. At that point, Wahrhaftig said, he protested that this seemed unreasonable and that a majority of only three would seem sufficient.

Wahrhaftig said Di Masi replied that others were involved.

"Mr. Flanagan in the zoning commission; George F. McKneally, the city councilman who lives in the area."

The witness did not mention any other names of councilmen.

Wahrhaftig said Di Masi characterized himself as "just an errand boy" and quoted him as saying:

"There are always people who have to be taken care of."

Called Go-Between

The prosecution has accused Di Masi of being the go-between in dealings with the Wahrhaftig brothers.

Di Masi was arrested last Dec. 7 as he stepped out of a New York hotel room carrying $20,000 which the brothers allegedly had given him in the room.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Carl Grebow said Mitchell at the time was waiting for Di Masi at a Newburgh tavern. At 5 p.m., an hour after

Named to Head Cancer Crusade In City Wards

The 1963 Cancer Crusade in the 13 city wards here, will be headed by C. John Bechtold of 337 Foxhall Avenue, it was announced today by County Chairman Mrs. John C. Salapatis.

Referring to the appointment, Mrs. Salapatis said, "We can expect a very successful education program and fund raising campaign under his leadership."

Drive Begins Monday

The Crusade will start April 1, the beginning of Cancer Control Month, which is so designated each year by the President of the United States.

The chairman said he had agreed to lead the Crusade "because there is urgent need for everyone to do his share in combating a disease that will strike some 46,000,000 Americans now alive if present rates continue."

The Crusade leader said the prospects for eventually solving the cancer problem have never been as great as they are today.

"We are now saving one out of three cancer patients," he said. "Twenty-five years ago it was fewer than one out of five. We could save one out of two under ideal conditions."

Bechtold attributed the improvement to two major factors: Research has resulted in improved diagnosis and treatment; more people are getting to doctors in time for early treatment.

The educational aspect of the Crusade will seek to persuade more adults to have an annual health checkup as a precaution against possible death from cancer. The fund-raising aspect will supply needed funds for research.

Has Date To Tell of 14 Points Likely to Form British Policy

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—The man who stands a good chance to be Britain's next prime minister will have a chance this weekend to lay his program before President Kennedy.

Fourteen outstanding points of policy have appeared in the statements of Harold Wilson, new leader of the Labor party.

Woodrow Wilson's 14 points helped set the pattern for Europe after World War I. Harold Wilson's 14 points would set the pattern for British policy if his Labor party wins the next general election, as many British political observers expect. The election must be held before October 1964.

Due on Thursday

Wilson flies to the United States Thursday for his first meeting with Kennedy since Wilson was elected head of the Labor party last month. The program he will outline includes at least three sharp departures from allied policy.

They are:

Limited recognition of Communist East Germany and recognition of Poland's title to German territory occupied after World War II.

Soviet and U.S. withdrawal from a neutralized central European zone of controlled armaments made up of West and East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Nuclear weapons would be barred from the area.

Communist China's admission to the United Nations in place of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists.

Some of Wilson's 14 points would swing Britain into closer alignment with the Kennedy administration. Others would take Britain toward a middle position in the cold war.

Here are the issues:

1. Relations with the United States:

"We (Laborites) recognize the facts of the world economic and political situation," Wilson has said. "We want to cooperate with America to influence them. We hope they will be equally frank with us."

Wilson wants to cancel the 1962 Nassau agreement under which Kennedy promised to supply U.S. Polaris missiles for British nuclear-powered submarines. He favors transferring American bases on British soil, including the nuclear submarine depot at Holy Loch, Scotland, to NATO. He would like a more liberal American trade and tariff policy.

2. North Atlantic Treaty Organization:

Wilson regards NATO as "central both in our defense and foreign policy" but insists on a reform of the alliance and its strategy. Britain to begin with should strengthen her contribution. Then NATO armies should lessen their reliance on nuclear weapons by building up conventional power, as Kennedy urges.

This, Wilson thinks, would cut the risk of nuclear fighting. He stresses the need to bar the spread of nuclear arms to Allied powers. Instead, a system of collective political control of the Western nuclear deterrent should be evolved.

3. British defense policy:

"A Labor government will not

Rusk, Dobrynin To Meet in Week, Allies Briefed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin are expected to meet again in about a week to continue their exploratory talks on Berlin, authoritative sources reported today.

Rusk and Dobrynin conferred for an hour Tuesday at the State Department. The session produced nothing new, the two being satisfied.

Effner Leaving Fire Dept., Pay Is Reason Given

Kingston's fire department, which has lost few men in the past 10 years through resignation, is to lose one this month, and the loss, like those which leaves the police department seven men short, is attributed to dissatisfaction with local salary scale.

Fireman John E. Effner, of 55 Garden Street, who has been with the department since Sept. 16, 1961, submitted a letter of resignation to the fire board, which gave its approval Tuesday night. It is effective March 30, after which Effner is to become a fireman in Washington, D. C.

Liked Job Here

Effner's letter to the board said: "It is with deep regret that I submit herewith my resignation as a member of the Kingston Paid Fire Department effective March 30, 1963. My financial obligations to my family prompt me to accept a similar position with the Washington, D. C. Fire Department."

"My association with the officers and members of the Kingston Fire Department over the past 18 months has been one that I enjoyed thoroughly and will always remember.

"I would, at this time, like to thank you and the members of the Kingston Fire Department for your cooperative and assistance while I have been a member of this department."

First For Washington

Chief James M. Brett, noting that examinations for appointment to the fire department in the nation's capital city, are conducted on a nationwide basis, said this is the first time a member from the Kingston department has accepted an appointment there.

It is not the first time, however, he noted, that local men have qualified through examination ratings for appointment there. In past years, he said, others have been among the first 100 on eligibility lists.

"The fact that we have men who can qualify for such appointment," he emphasized, "speaks well of our training program." He felt, however, that Kingston's department, and not others anywhere should reap full benefit of such training.

Salary Is Problem

The salary problem, could cause further losses of trained department personnel, as it has done in the police department, he feared. The top salary here is $5,200, plus longevity increments. The pay scale in Wash-

She'll Lose Toes But Spirits High

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP)—Helen Klaben, informed by her doctor she will lose her five right toes, had at least one bit of good news for her mother in Brooklyn—she should be home in about eight days.

Dr. Nesta James said the Yukon's 21-year-old heroine will be able to leave the Whitehorse hospital next Wednesday.

Heels Improving

Dr. James is treating Miss Klaben and Ralph Flores, the pilot of the plane that crashed Feb. 4 on a mountainside in the frozen wilderness 75 miles south of the Yukon-British Columbia border.

The doctor gave this report: "Miss Klaben suffered a broken left arm, which apparently has healed in good position." She also suffered frostbite on the toes of her right foot, and on both heels. The toes will have to be removed but the heels seem to be improving nicely.

Flores suffered a broken nose, a broken jaw and frostbite on two toes. He appears to be recovering from all his injuries.

Miss Klaben was full of laughs Tuesday as she chatted by telephone with her family and close friends from a wheelchair at the nurses' station in the hospital.

"I'm a celebrity," she told her mother. "You'd never believe the attention I'm getting."

Feels 'Like Million'

Flores also was considerably livelier than he has been since Indian trappers found him Sunday night near his distress signal that a passing bush pilot spotted.

"I feel like a million dollars," said the 42-year-old electrician and flier after a good night's sleep.

"I talked with my wife and she might be able to come visit me," Flores' wife and six children

Engravers Ballot At 4 on Terms; Leader Confident

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight major New York City newspapers, blacked out for 110 days, are expected to be back on the streets with Thursday editions if striking photoengravers quickly ratify a peace pact today.

Negotiators for the Photoengravers Union early today accepted contract terms proposed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and approved by publishers of the eight dailies.

Losses Top $200 Million

The photoengravers were the last of four striking unions to reach new work agreements in the longest and costliest newspaper shutdown in the city's history.

Estimates of the loss run in excess of $200 million.

Frank McGowan, president of the photoengravers local said he expects the rank-and-file to ratify an amended contract proposal put forth by the mayor and accepted by the union's negotiating committee, 8-2.

Survey Is Slated in Kingston

Relyea Has 1,000 Names on Petition

Mayor John J. Schwenk today said he felt confident that factors dealt with at an Albany hearing Tuesday on the city's equalization rate, after reviewed here by state men within the next two weeks, will benefit the city through a requested change.

The mayor, Corporation Counsel Harry Gold, and Walter Donnaruma, local real estate consultant, attended a hearing conducted by Joseph Murphy of the State Tax Commission. It dealt with the city's equalization rate tentatively fixed by the state at 33, and lasted two and a half hours. The city seeks a rate of at least 34.

Counsel's Statement

Developments in the controversy over school district equalization, meanwhile, brought a statement from Robert A. MacKinnon, counsel to the education board that he had followed acceptable procedure in dealing with equalization, and had received assurance from state officials, of the fact.

It also brought announcement that a delegation of Town of Hurley taxpayers, headed by Supervisor Charles Relyea, will air the town's equalization problem in Albany Friday morning.

Mayor Feels Confident

Mayor Schwenk said that after reporting apparent errors in local property valuations and sales during hearing on the local equalization problem, the board was requested to permit its technical men to go over submitted information, and determine if the city is entitled to a reappraisal and ultimately a higher rate.

The mayor said he feels confident that a survey will confirm what he considers to be the facts involved.

A higher equalization rate will benefit the city financially, but because of external factors involved, the sum to be gained cannot be determined at this time.

The Town of Hurley group is due to confer with the State Board of Equalization at 11 a.m. Friday, in an effort to obtain a "better rate for tax purposes in the Kingston School District, Consolidated."

Calls 19 Unfair

Supervisor Relyea said the rate of 19 for the Hurley area in the school district is unfair. Hurley, he said, should have a rate for school tax purposes equal to the county equalization rate of 24, or at least, a higher rate than 19.

Some six Hurley residents will accompany him to Albany, Relyea said, and a petition with 1,000 signatures of Hurley taxpayers, urging a higher rate, will be submitted to the state board.

MacKinnon's Opinion

MacKinnon, counsel for the school district, and for the Town of Hurley, said Monday that in his opinion the education board, or Dr. Earl F. Soper, school superintendent, are not required to apply for a special equalization.

20-Lane Plaza

At Saugerties

Sold to Combine

The 20-lane Buster Ferraro Plaza Bowl at Simmons Plaza has been sold to a group of Saugerties businessmen known as Saugerties Bowl, Inc., it was learned today.

In announcing the sale, Frank (Buster) Ferraro, the proprietor, identified the group as Attorneys Morris Rosenblum and Daniel Lamb and Austin Simmons, a housing developer.

No purchase price was announced. The group took title to the property on March 22.

Ferraro, a widely known bowler who opened the beautiful establishment on Oct. 20, 1962, emphasized that his inability to obtain a liquor license was the principal factor in his decision to sell the business.

He said he plans to remain with the new corporation in the capacity of lanes manager and superintendent.

Simmons is president of the corporation. He said there would be no personnel changes and the name Buster Ferraro Plaza Bowl would be retained.

Tentative plans call for en-

Saugerties Hears New School Costs Are $2,529,000

More than 200 residents of Saugerties Central School District were almost unanimous in supporting the Board of Education's school expansion program Tuesday night at Saugerties High School auditorium.

Tentative estimates given at the meeting indicated that the cost of construction alone would be $2,529,000.

The meeting brought forth many suggestions on the part of those present. The consensus was that "a building program must be carried through at the very earliest date."

Board President Robert Herb, presided and opened the meeting with a chronology of events.

The meeting had been designed to get the thinking of the school district voters before the final plans were made and the bond issue presented.

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of school, said the estimates of school population increases were conservative and WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Residents of this "Snow Capital" had better proof today than the traditional robin that spring had really arrived.

Emergency no - parking signs, erected Jan. 30, were finally removed Tuesday as snow piles dwindled under a warm sun. More than 150 inches of snow fell here during the winter.

The average depth of snow today was reported at less than a foot—down more than 15 inches from last Saturday.

Refunds Coming For Gas Users

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Customers of five Upstate gas companies will receive refunds totaling $4,738,500 under plans approved by the Public Service Commission.

The commission said Tuesday the refunds had been granted to the firms from wholesalers under orders from the Federal Power Commission. Law requires that such refunds be passed on to customers.

The five approved Tuesday included a return of $2,544,719 by the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. over the next three months, in addition to refunds of $1,690,000 approved earlier.

Iroquois Gas Corp., which serves Western New York, was authorized to spread a $1,938,995 refund over the next year. The company earlier had been authorized to make a refund of $1,813,200.

Empire Gas and Fuel Co. Ltd., which serves the Hornell-Wellsville area, will refund $142,786, in addition to $114,154 approved earlier.

Pennsylvania Gas Co. will refund $50,988 to its Jamestown area customers, in addition to $60,300 previously approved.

Empire and Pennsylvania Gas also planned to spread the refunds over the next year as credits on customers' bills.

Corning Natural Gas Corp. will refund $61,027 over 24 months. A $71,354 refund by Corning had been approved earlier.

COOPERATIVE STEP

The centrifugal forces of ideology and world power politics operate to keep the United States and the Soviet Union apart. The universality of science and the common need to master problems that transcend political differences are counterforces drawing the United States and the Soviet Union together.

It is not wholly unrealistic—nor is it, as some might suppose, unpatriotic or a betrayal of American ideals—to dream that these linked counterforces may some day gain ascendancy. When men work together in pursuit of mutually beneficial goals, their real or fancied differences tend to be resolved. There is no magic in this; it is simply that men engaged in common endeavor are more likely to arrive at common understanding than men who keep apart.

This is what makes the signing of a United States-Soviet accord on a joint weather satellite program so gratifying. This is what makes even more so the hints of possible future cooperation between the powers in undertakings of greater importance than the weather surveillance project. Satellites launched by the two countries will collect a variety of data to be exchanged through a special communications network. Ultimately all the world will benefit through quicker, more accurate weather prediction.

There is more to the agreement than that. Russia and the United States also will work together on global communications experiments. And there is some reason to hope that such ventures as probes in the vicinity of Mars and Venus can be undertaken without wasteful duplication of effort. All in all, the Rome agreement for scientific cooperation between the United States and Russia is an important step toward a less tense and hostile world.

PURPOSE OF ADVERTISING

Advertising can, and should, serve two major purposes.

The most obvious is to sell a concern's goods or services, whatever they may be. This is essential and traditional.

But there can be more, much more—and that is advertising designed to instill faith in the system which makes it possible to produce, advertise and sell goods and services, in a climate of freedom. The "climate" is the foundation for successful production and sales.

The Freedoms Foundations each year awards its George Washington Honor Medal, which is its top award, to an enterprise conducting a local advertising campaign furthering the cause of freedom.

The 1962 Medal went to the Florida Power & Light Company, which also won it in 1955. That made this utility the first two-time winner of the Foundation's highest award.

The 1962 advertising which won the honor pointed out the importance of maintaining the basic rights and privileges of our citizens. "Each ad in the series depicted a different phase of the American way of life—freedom of speech, the right to vote and many others—asking on each, 'Are we letting it fade away?'"

An officer of the company has said: "We have tried through advertising to awaken citizens to the value of our rights and freedoms..." What finer purpose can advertising serve?

THEN THE HOT DOG

It is hard to figure out what is really going on behind the Iron Curtain, granted. But doesn't Premier Khrushchev's recent plug for corn flakes and potato chips sound like one more bit of edging away from the hard Communist ideology?

The boss of the Kremlin waxed positively lyrical about the virtues of these American foods which he recalled partaking of on his trip to the United States. He urged his countrymen to make more use of corn as a human food and suggested cornflakes as a dandy way to do it. He described potato chips as cheap, tasty, easy to keep.

It would be a mistake to read too much into this. But if potato chips and corn-

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

RIDING HERD ON THE HERD RIDERS

There is a report current in Washington that President Kennedy is about to ask Congress to set up an administrative agency to ride herd on the administrative agencies. But the question is whether the regulators need regulating, or whether they might better be abolished in favor of automatic regulation by the forces of free market competition.

An administrative agency to watch over the administrative agencies would, in the nature of things, be a body consisting of detectives and judges. The super-administrators would have to be endowed with the power to snoop. Since only a mediocre man will take a supervisory job if he knows that he is to be spied upon and second-guessed, the existence of a super-administrative agency with quasi-police and quasi-judicial powers would, over a stretch of time, automatically lower the calibre of such bodies as the Federal Communications Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

There is, of course, soft talk at present about limiting a super-agency to something less than "czar-like" powers. But if it lacked the ability to make its recommendations stick, it would merely create another hazard to be surmounted in the long process of settling disputes between the regulators and the regulated. And soon the cry would arise, "Who will regulate the regulators?" Somehow it makes one think of that old song, "Who Takes Care of the Caretaker's Daughter While the Caretaker's Busy Taking Care?"

The cry for an agency to watch over the agencies is a perfect example of the operation of Parkinson's Law of Bureaucratic Cell Division. Once the agency is set up, it would inevitably develop its own sub-empires, devoted to this and that bit of specialization. As Professor Parkinson says, "Work expands to fill the time available for it." And as the Professor elaborates, "expenditures rise to meet income." The super-agency would multiply time for work, and it would have income to spend. The taxpayer would, of course, pay the bill, either directly or through inflation of the currency to cover an addition to the federal deficit.

The direct way of regulating such lagard and malfunctioning administrative agencies as the Interstate Commerce Commission would be to prune their functions severely. President Kennedy has himself suggested this. Some of the more moribund commissions might easily be abolished, at no loss to anybody save the regulators themselves.

When the Interstate Commerce Commission was set up, in the latter part of 1887, there was a shadow of an excuse for it. Prior to the post-Civil War spate of railroad building across the western plains, the railroads of America had been effectively kept from rate-gouging by the existence of alternative river or canal routes. Since grain from Chicago could be shipped east to Buffalo by the competing Great Lakes water route, old Commodore Vanderbilt's New York Central couldn't say very well, "The grain shipper be damned." Once the wheat grower had moved to the high plains of the West, however, where the rivers are too uncertain and too shallow to provide an alternative carrying service, the railroads could raise their rates with impunity.

So the I. C. C. may have been a valid response to a need of the late Nineteenth Century, but today, with our modern grid of automobile roads and our proliferation of airlines and long-distance pipelines, there is plenty of natural competition to hold railroad rate-makers in check. So why not prune the powers of the I. C. C. or even get rid of the damned thing entirely?

There are, currently, four big railroad mergers pending at the I. C. C. The rail mergers might best be speeded, not by the creation of a super-agency to tell the I. C. C. to hurry up, but by riding the I. C. C. itself out of town on a rail. If a railroad merger threatens monopoly of any kind, there is always the restraining influence of Bobby Kennedy's Department of Justice, which happens to have an anti-trust enforcement division. Why multiply the cops?

The DOCTOR SAYS

Prompt Recognition: Key to Effective Cancer Control

Much confusion exists over the nature of cancer, because it is not one disease, but many. The feature that appears to be common to all cancers is that a change occurs in the normal cells of some part of the body which alters their appearance and causes them to multiply in a disorderly fashion.

Whereas a benign tumor is confined within the expanded but otherwise normal boundary of the affected organ, a malignant tumor pushes through this boundary and invades adjacent tissues and organs without fear or favor. Cells may also break away from a malignant tumor and be carried by the blood or lymph streams to distant parts of the body, where they set up secondary tumors known as "metastases."

One of the mysteries still facing the medical world is the question of how cancer is acquired. At best we have a few clues. Low-grade chronic irritations appear to be an important factor. The irritation may be thermal. Cancer of the lips, for example, is more frequent in smokers than in nonsmokers and cancer of the stomach is more frequent in persons who habitually eat very hot foods.

The irritation may be mechanical. Cancer of the tongue often occurs in persons with neglected rough or jagged teeth. The irritation may be chemical. Chronic exposure to tars, certain dyes, and arsenic has long been recognized as a cause of skin cancer.

More recent studies have implicated the nickel carbonyl present in tobacco smoke and in the atmosphere to which workers in nickel plants are exposed. The incidence of lung cancer is high in persons exposed to this chemical over a long period. Hormonal imbalance is another form of chemical insult that may play a part in the cause of some cancers.

Cancer of the skin is more common in persons who have spent many years exposed to the direct rays of the sun. Another factor is radiation. Cancer has occurred in many persons who were exposed to X-rays, radioactive paint, radium without proper protection. Some form of virus is another possible factor, if not in causing cancer, at least in initiating it.

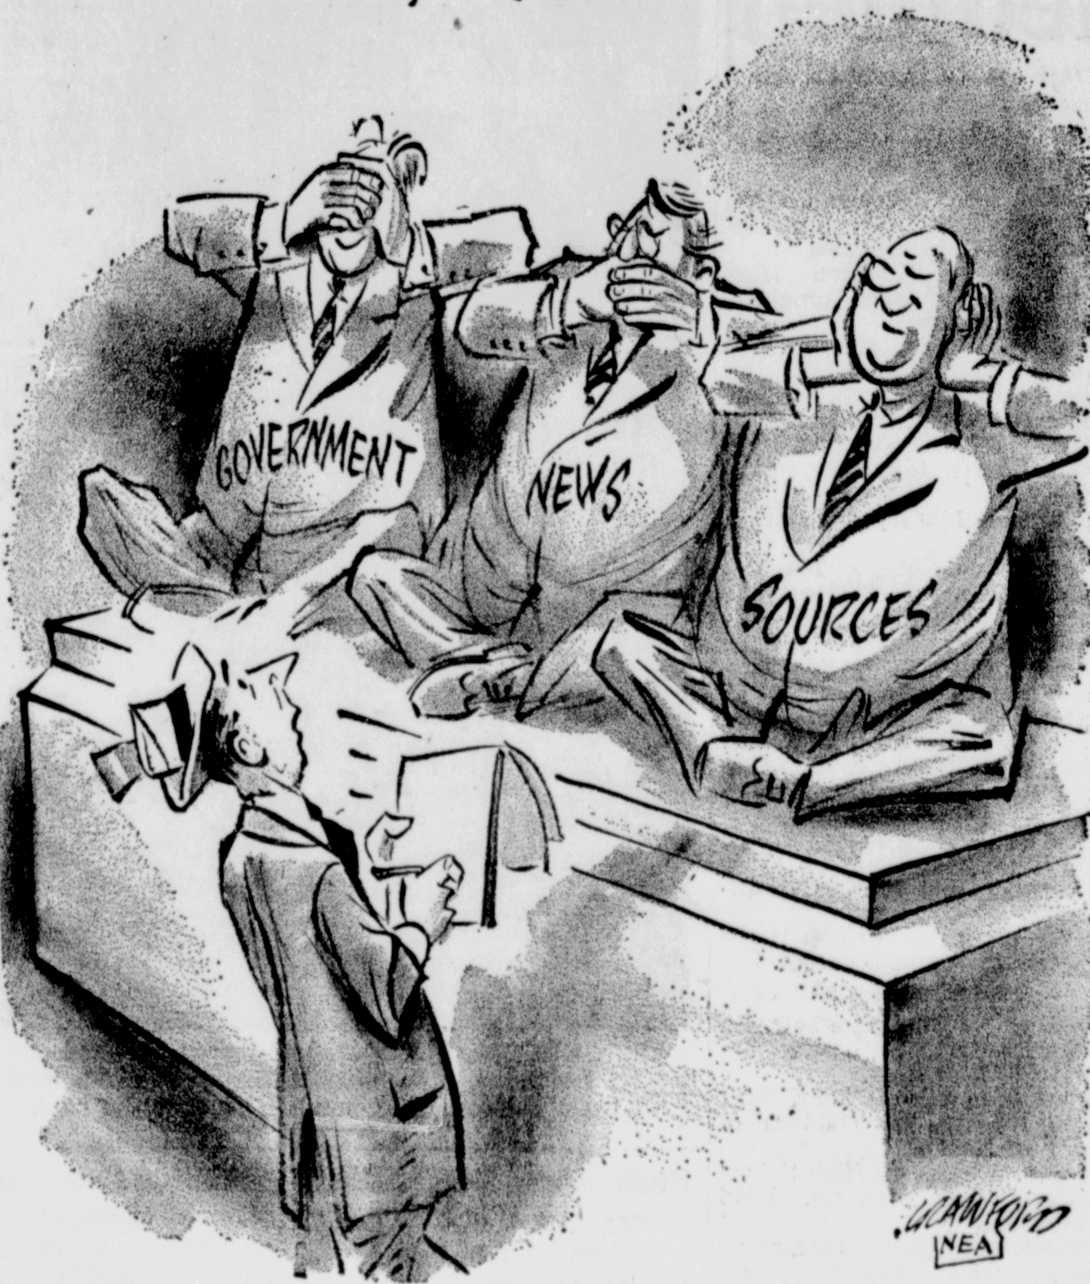

There is no reason to believe that cancer is either contagious or hereditary.

At this point it is essential to warn my readers against going to extremes in an effort to avoid cancer. Don't reject hot meals—just use moderation. Don't avoid getting a modest sun tan in nice weather and, above all, don't refuse to let your doctor or dentist get X-rays if he thinks they would help him to understand the nature of your complaints. It isn't the average patient who runs a great risk from this source, but the doctors and technicians.

Since the causes of cancer (and there are probably several) are still not well understood, your best protection is early recognition and removal. This can be accomplished by having periodic health examinations and especially by reporting to your doctor any chronic painless skin lesion that refuses to heal, any painless lumps that have been present for more than 10 days, any unusual bleeding from any body orifice, any persistent radical departure from your usual bowel habits and any other bodily changes that you can't account for.

Flakes come, can hot dogs be far behind? And if the Soviet people get to eating hot dogs there's no limit to how far they may yield to pleasant American ways.

"May I Quote You?"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — There has probably been more sheer balderdash about foreign affairs printed and spoken this year than in any comparable period since the end of World War II.

The subjects have been Cuba, disarmament, the nuclear test ban, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear striking force, the Sino-Soviet split and French President Charles de Gaulle. Nobody really knows from nothing about any of these subjects. That makes it easier for everyone to speculate, and in one sense this is all to the good.

WIDE PUBLIC DISCUSSION of controversial issues is supposed to be the heart and life of the democratic system. So the more "thinking" there is on these subjects, even though few people know what they're talking about, the better informed everyone should be, or the more up to date, anyway.

But the only people who really know what's in the Cuban caves and how many Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the island are the Russians, and they haven't yet told.

The disarmament and nuclear test ban agreements that everyone was so hopeful about the end of last year are no nearer to signing than they ever were.

Many military "experts" have been waiting that NATO is falling apart because the European nations won't accept U.S. ideas on an international nuclear striking force. Yet Secretary of State Dean Rusk says simply that the President's special ambassador, Livingston T. Merchant is in Europe to find out what the Europeans want and will agree to—so that their wishes on the ideas can be met.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

March 27, 1943—Mr. and Mrs. William Gleason, of South Manor Avenue, were notified that their son, Sgt. John Gleason, of South Manor Avenue, was a member of the Guard of Honor for President Roosevelt at Casablanca.

Isaac B. Trowbridge was elected exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge. Twaalfskill Golf Club planned to open its links May 1. Thaws had lessened the vestiges of winter.

March 27, 1953—High water was general throughout the eastern United States, including Ulster County, after heavy March rains.

Police claimed solution of a robbery attempt at the Chery Brothers store, Hasbrouck Avenue, with the arrest of a teenager.

A civil service test for the post of housing manager at Colonial Gardens was slated for June.

A Public Service Commission hearing was slated for April 9 here on bid of the New York Central Railroad to remove two of its trains from the mountain branch.

"What should be our response to the events of January?" Acheson asks. And, in condensed form he answers: "It should be a calm response... It should not assume, as some of the press has, that all is lost..."

"Our present European defense policy is right... a multinational strategic nuclear force for Europe is best... In other directions there is room and need for co-operation with him (De Gaulle) in important work... it is time now... to get on again with building up."

Acheson can say these things and get away with them because while he is of the Kennedy administration, he is not in it. This may stand as one of the best jobs of putting international blarney into focus that has been done in a long time.

Timely Quotes

It's essential for the Republicans to do what the Democrats have done in the past after the convention. We've got to quit burying the hatchet in each other and start burying it in somebody else. — Richard M. Nixon.

If I didn't like this job, and didn't believe in what I'm doing, I would have quit a long time ago. — Teamsters' Jimmy Hoffa.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

There is something disgusting about being overweight. I know what it is. It's fat. I have it. I look like an old upright piano. How can anybody be 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall and weigh 184 pounds? Easy. It was no problem for me.

No beach Apollo, me. On the sand I look more like Buddha contemplating his navel. Old friends greet me with a hearty handshake and: "You're looking good, my boy. Picked up a little weight, hey?" Translation: "You nut. You bucking for a cardiac or something?"

So I decided to do something about it. I went to Cy Martin's snob center and bought some dark clothes. The tailor tried size 40 and then admitted that the back of the trousers could not be let out that much. So he got some size 42 stuff and cut two feet off the legs. The back had to be let out a little. He made chalk marks to show where. This man is a little too personal for a stranger.

The clothes arrived and I tried them on. I tried on a couple of wild sport shirts and the kids said I looked like a weather balloon. Someone is going to have to talk to those youngsters. Our housekeeper, Katie, just looked and held herself down to a broad smile. She cooks German style. Get the plot?

So I did something about it. Ten days ago I decided to give up eating three items: potatoes, bread and candy. Somehow, dinner isn't dinner to me without a potato. A nice big baked one with sour cream and chives. Or a couple of pounds of lyonnaise with lots of onions. The potatoes had to go. I dreaded to watch them pass under my nose without stopping. Like old friends who walk by without saying hello.

Bread is another of my vices. Sour rye is a favorite. With caraway seeds, please. Three slices are sufficient. Well, bread had to go too. The trouble with any diet—even a homemade one like this—is that the missing amounts of food must be replaced with something else.

Fat people are fat because they like to eat fattening foods. They hate thinning foods. So I ate thinning stuff, like a couple of pounds of broccoli with no dressing; a salad with two drops of oil and four of vinegar; two portions of boiled carrots with not butter. Food fit for rabbits.

The third substance was candy. This is an inexcusable weakness on my part. The hunger for candy hits me at about 10:30 every night. From that point on, it mounts. My wife likes candy

Will U.S. Allow Red Takeover In Central, South America?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Will the United States permit a complete Communist takeover of Central and South America similar to what has already happened in Cuba?

One by one, the Latin-American countries are currently being subjected to the most intensive penetration by the Soviet Government. What is the answer?

Seen Condoning Evil

It will be of no avail to blame a preceding administration. There is an unfortunate tendency in Washington nowadays to condone evil by enumerating mistakes of the past as if these furnish an alibi for present errors or neglect of duty.

The problem is really non-political. It is every day becoming more difficult to handle. Billions of dollars are being taken away from the taxpayers of the United States annually to support so-called "Foreign Aid" programs on all continents. Almost everyone familiar with the situation agrees that financial aid of some kind from the United States is essential to thwart the communist intrusions in the internal affairs of various countries to the south of us. When the United States lends or gives money to another country, however, the Washington government cannot exercise complete control over what happens to such funds.

Also, the Communists train stooges in Moscow and send them back to their native lands to convert their fellow countrymen or to engage in an obstructive type of political activity that checkmates progress even when American money for worthy objects is made available.

The fundamental weakness in the situation today is the failure of the United States Government to adopt a resolute policy toward the Communist invasion of this hemisphere. The inclination here has been to avoid a showdown on the vague ground that "commitments" in other parts of the world may be endangered. But many times in world history, procrastination and timidity have resulted in bringing on the very conflict that a policy of forbearance was aimed to avoid.

Poverty Helps Reds

The spread of communism in Latin America is due largely to economic conditions that have long prevailed there. Poverty and a low standard of living provide fertile areas for Communist infiltration. Weak governments, influenced by selfish leaders, have retarded progress. Even in a country as friendly to the United States as Brazil has been for the last 150 years or more, there is today a threat of a Communist takeover. Guatemala is also in peril. Argentina and Chile have had their Communist troubles, too. It certainly is time for a much more forceful policy toward Communist sabotage and subversion than the United States has thus far been willing to adopt.

Foreign policy in this field, both under the present and preceding administrations here, has been based on a belief that the Organization of American States can be made to function as a kind of supervisory police body which would employ armed forces in a collective manner. But almost every one of the Latin-American countries faces such a serious threat from within that it is doubtful whether any firm policy which really comes to grips with the Communist problem will ever materialize through the OAS. The United States bears the major responsibility, and must go it alone when it becomes necessary. That time has arrived.

It will be argued, of course, that public opinion in Latin America is opposed to any armed intervention by this country, and that the Communists will capitalize on such a step. But although the Latin countries were at first dismayed by the attempted invasion at the "Bay of Pigs," many of the leaders of various governments to the south of us now have seen the light and want Cuba freed from the Communist yoke by any means possible.

The United States inevitably has to take the risk of offending the Kremlin, and can adopt the very contention that nations have put forward in the past—respect for international rights. To protect American property by force, if necessary, is a right granted under International Law. It involves a decision that has to be made sooner or later. Under the Monroe Doctrine, the United States has maintained that no European power shall be permitted to establish a base or its "system" in this hemisphere. Historical precedent under International Law therefore would justify a move to rid Cuba of Communist troops, technicians and subversive organizations as well.

Cites U.S. Action

What the United States does or fails to do in Cuba is directly related to the future freedom of all the Latin-American peoples. The cry will be raised that intervention could bring on World War III. But a Communist takeover of Latin America, including Mexico, would mean a world war just the same. So it's a question of not what shall be done, but when. All signs today point to a Communist conquest of the Latin countries of this hemisphere if the United States continues to wait for the weak Organization of American States to act, or mistakenly delays action until the Communists have built an other wall around all of Latin America.

Cuba is the natural place for an early showdown with communism in this hemisphere. (Reproduction right reserved.)

too. Sometimes, when my father visits us and watches us go off to the bedroom laden with bags and tins he shakes his head sadly.

"Reminds me of two hunters going off into the jungle on safari," he says. This is sheer jealousy on his part because John Bishop was the best free-handed candy eater I ever met. He used to knock off a couple of boxes of cough drops when he didn't have a cough.

So the candy went. My wife had to hide it from me while making it available for the children. That takes will power on her part. Also nerve. The results were amazing. I gave up three of the great loves of my life for food a starving ox would spurn, and I began to lose a pound a day. In ten days, I weighed 174.

Everybody said: "You're going too fast." I felt they were right because I think as though I was really going. I began to set myself in a box. The weight went fast but my disposition went faster. I woke up growling and went to bed growling. My wife said that if I didn't stop it, she'd hide my teddy bear.

Some authorities say that a person should weigh what he weighed when he was 21 years of age. My weight was 145. I'll never live to see it. My goal is 160. Dr. Bernard A. Krull used to say: "How many fat people do you know over 60 years of age?"

Well, there was my late mother-in-law, Maggy Dunning was exactly five feet tall and weighed a cool 190. When she heaved a sigh, it often rolled up the rugs. She lived to age 77, and she talked dirt from the age of 49 onward. She figured that if she kept talking about it, no one else could intrude the subject, and she was right. She loved hot food and ice cold beer.

Who's to say she was wrong? The more weight I lose, the more I envy Maggy. My father once weighed 254. I'm telling you that this is a family of eaters. There is a lady in our family whose north to south measurements run 36, 44 and 52. Like a blonde pyramid.

When one is fat, the first 10 pounds drop off easily. From here on, it is going to be more and more difficult to lose, because the amount of fat left aboard is smaller. However, I'm 10 pounds lighter. Mostly in the head. Don't applaud, friends. Just send Care Packages...

Governor Has Bill On Milk Prices and Quota Systems

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A two-price system and production quotas could be established for dairy farmers in the Rochester and Niagara milksheds under a bill approved by the Legislature. Still required, however, are Gov. Rockefeller's signature on the legislation and approval by two-thirds of the affected farmers in a referendum. The Senate passed the bill, 45-12 Tuesday and sent it to the governor. The two milksheds operate under state marketing orders. Congress is considering similar proposals that would apply in sections of the state governed by federal marketing orders.

Under the bill passed by the Legislature, the state agriculture commissioner would establish a two-price system and production quotas for each producer in the milksheds after the plan had won approval of two thirds of the farmers. A farmer would receive the higher price for milk produced within his quota. The lower price would be paid for milk produced above the quota. Another measure dealing with milk—to prohibit retail sales of milk below cost—came under attack Tuesday by Democratic legislative leaders. Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia charged in a statement that the legislation was "intended solely to raise the price of milk." Under the bill, passed by the Senate and pending in the Assembly, the agriculture commissioner would be authorized to determine what the cost of milk was to retailers and, in effect, establish a minimum retail price based on the cost.

Rochester Council Would Check on Police

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — An ordinance establishing a citizen's review board that would investigate charges of police brutality has been passed by the Democratic-controlled city council. The vote, along party lines, was 63 for the nine-member board, whose duties would include the study of complaints against police methods in arrests. The board will make non-binding recommendations following investigation. The ordinance was the outcropping of a series of charges, most of them informal, against police tactics. Most were made by Negroes. The Phoenicians are credited with introducing peafowl to Europe about 3,000 years ago.

To Fit Rocky's Decision

Excise Tax Increase Turns To Brand Label Permit Fee

An AP News Analysis
By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Last week it was an excise tax increase.

This week it is "a new concept" — brand label use permit fee.

The evolution of a tax into a fee took place in translating the decision of the Republican legislative majority into a bill that Gov. Rockefeller would sign.

Rockefeller, committed to a pledge not to increase taxes in the next four years, has insisted that any new state levy be a "fee" rather than a tax.

Last week, a Republican revolt against Rockefeller's revenue proposals ended after seven weeks with agreement on a bill that would raise the state excise tax on wholesale sales of liquor, beer and wine by $27.6 million and liquor-license fees by $7.8 million.

In the Assembly, the explanatory literature distributed to assemblymen by GOP leaders used the term "excise-tax increase" and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlini also employed the phrase.

In the Senate, Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney used the term "brand label use fee" instead of excise tax, although he smiled when he said it.

Rockefeller, however, did not smile at a news conference last week when a reporter asked him how the proposed fee differed from the excise tax. He said he would not want to be drawn into a discussion of semantics.

When the liquor bill arrived from the printer Monday night, the levy had become a "brand label use permit fee."

How is the fee similar to the excise tax?

It will be levied on wholesale sales, as is the excise tax. It is calculated according to gallons sold, as is the excise tax. It will be collected monthly, as is the excise tax.

How does it differ?

The major difference is that the State Liquor Authority will collect the levy, rather than the Miscellaneous Tax Bureau of the State Tax Department, which collects the excise tax.

This apparently will involve separate personnel, forms and quarters. But Rockefeller's office said no additional Liquor Authority personnel would be needed. There were reports that the Tax Department would be counted upon to do most of the collection and policing of the new levy.

Another apparent difference is that the brand label use permit fee will be levied only on alcoholic beverages "the container of which bears a label stating the brand or trade name of the owner or producer."

This distinction, however, may not be real. A liquor industry spokesman said that, under state and federal law, a store cannot sell a bottle without such an identifying label.

Rockefeller previously has taken the position that a fee was levied on special individuals or groups to cover the cost of a particular state service.

The liquor business now pays a variety of license fees to cover the cost of state regulation of the industry. Rockefeller was asked at a news conference Tuesday what new services the brand label use permit fee would cover.

"Brand label. It's a new concept," the governor explained.

Steel in House Frames

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel-frame houses are reported in "Steel Facts," a publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, as able to be put up faster and maintained cheaper than conventional homes.

One model recently shown has exterior steel wall panels which interlock and a coated steel roof that reflects sunshine for lower air conditioning loads.

In another recent home building project, a composite steel and wood beam uses a piece of light gauge steel with regular 2 by 10-inch lumber to double the load-bearing capacity.

New Salaries Approved

LEJiflavz! Jtols,fi nSbookLNw A new salary schedule for teachers in the Wappingers Central School District, which will increase the salary appropriation by $612,000, has been approved by the Board of Education of that community. The new schedule becomes effective in September.

11 Meter Meeting

The date of the regular monthly meeting of the 11 Meter CB Radio Club has been changed to April 4 due to the regular meeting night falling on Maundy Thursday. Members will meet 8 p. m. at Aiello's Restaurant.

Matter of Fact

Those who favor a really fine brush usually get one made from bristles. Bristle is the stiff hair of swine. It is produced and prepared chiefly in China, the Soviet Union, Japan, Poland, India, Germany and France. The United States imports annually an average of about 4 million pounds.

Area Lutherans Hear Report of 23-Page Analysis

A 23-page statistical analysis indicating membership growth was presented last week at the cabinet meeting of Hudson District of the Lutheran Synod of New York held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston.

The Rev. Russell Greene was host pastor; the Rev. William Rittberger of Hudson, dean of the conference, presided.

To Be Distributed

The statistical analysis covering population and membership growth and other information useful to congregations was presented by the Rev. Norman Krapf, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock, district secretary. The brochure will be distributed to congregations of the district.

The Rev. Robert Reich of Port Jervis reported on plans for stimulating evangelism programs in the area congregations. The Rev. Alvin Messersmith of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, reported for the committee on American Missions, charged with the establishment of new congregations. He stated that there were two areas of the Hudson Conference which were being recommended to the synodical committee for investigation toward the formation of new congregations.

Reports were presented on Social Missions by the Rev. John Frenssen, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Kingston, on Christian Stewardship by the Rev. Fuhlbruck, St. John's Lutheran Church, Poughkeepsie.

Set Convention Date

It was announced that the spring convention of the Hudson Conference would be held at Christ Lutheran Church, Newburgh, Tuesday, April 30, beginning with a supper meeting for pastors and lay delegates and followed at 8 p. m. by the address of the Rev. Alfred Beck, D.D., president of the New York Synod and by the Rev. Albert Staudermann, assistant editor of The Lutheran, national church publication reaching over 400,000 subscribers bi-weekly.

Dr. Staudermann will speak on "The Organizational Structure of the Lutheran Church in America." The 8 p. m. session will be a rally meeting at which effort will be made to have in attendance all members of the church councils of the congregations of the district.

The Rev. William Hayman, chairman of Parish Education Committee announced that the synod would conduct leadership schools at Mt. Tremper, Silver Bay, Keuka Lake, and Silver Lake, as well as a boys and girls camp at Bear Mountain State Park.

It was also announced that a new curriculum for congregations of the Lutheran Church in America will be ready in 1964, which will coordinate all the teaching functions of the congregations, Sunday school, release time schools, vacation Bible schools and confirmation instruction.

Women to Organize

Mrs. Alvin Messersmith, president of the Lutheran Church Women of the Hudson District announced that the spring convention of the women would be held at First Lutheran Church, Poughkeepsie, May 15 from 10:30 a. m. throughout the afternoon. The session will be an organizational meeting bringing the area Lutheran Church Women officially under the national group. A president and a secretary will be elected.

During the afternoon session the representatives composed of members of Lutheran Church Women's groups of the Hudson District churches will hear from a representative of the Lutheran Mission at Tanganyika, Africa. Conference theme will be "Stir Up the Gift That Is In Thee."

Volunteers Will Meet April 16 At Cottekill

The April meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held at the newly renovated Cottekill fire house, Cottekill, Tuesday, April 16 at 8 p. m. with the Cottekill firemen acting as host for the county association.

Secretary Fred C. Harder in announcing the place for the April meeting, urges all companies be represented at the meeting as important business will be transacted.

It is requested that all fire companies report on the number of members who will take the "rescue breathing" course which is being offered firemen through the Ulster County Heart Chapter. At the last meeting application blanks were given out. This course will be given at Kingston Hospital by Dr. Harold F. Rakov and a class should number 25. The sponsors are anxious to get the course started and all companies are requested to report the number of applicants so that a starting date may be fixed.

Reports on the annual convention to be held at Saugerties also will be given at the April meeting.

Ulster College
Dr. Lake's Topic
At Esopus Lions

Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of the Ulster County Community College, was guest speaker Monday evening at the dinner meeting of Esopus Lions Club held at the Capri restaurant.

A progress report was given by Dr. Lake on the college and he complimented the people of Ulster County for the interest which they are showing in the project.

The Community College will open in September in temporary quarters in the former No. 2 School on West Chestnut Street, which is being remodeled to accommodate the students pending completion of permanent college structures.

In 1960 Dr. Lake stated only one out of four high school graduates went on to the two-year community college courses and by 1970 it was estimated one out of every two high school graduates would be attending the two-year Community College courses. By that time community colleges would be double in number. The Ulster County Community College is the 25th community college in New York state and four more will be opening in September. By 1970 a community college will be available within about an hour's commuting distance.

250 Students

Presently the capacity of the Ulster college will be limited to 250 students. There are 20 positions on the faculty open and at the present time the college authorities have received over 600 applications for positions from all over the country. The college will be governed by nine trustees, five appointed by the board of supervisors and four appointed by the governor.

Included in the courses available to students will be liberal arts, science, engineering and business courses.

Dr. Lake told the Town of Esopus Lions the motto of the college was "Each Become All He Is Capable of Being."

The speaker at the next dinner meeting of the club will be the Rev. A. J. Penney of Tillson.

President Sol Rosenthal read a letter from Dr. Stephen McGrath, Lion Zone Chairman, advising the officials of the club of an advisory meeting for executives to be held at Stone Wall Restaurant, Saugerties, on April 4 at 7:15 p. m.

Card Party April 23

Plans for the annual fund raising card party to be held at the Town of Esopus Municipal Auditorium, Port Jervis, on April 23, were discussed and committees named. First Vice-President Richard Griggs has been named chairman for the party.

Other committees are:

Tickets—Michael Frost, Zale

Liese, Rev. C. L. McFarland and Harvey LaForge.

Gifts—Herbert Klippel, William Vitarius and Rev. H. E. Christians.

Refreshments—Robert Corcoran, David McDonough and Michael Palumbo.

Tables and Chairs—LeRoy Cooper, Floyd Ellsworth and F. Gazia.

Cards and Score Books—Floyd Ellsworth, Peter Quick and D. Snell.

Publicity—Oscar Lambert and the Rev. Ronald Lockhorst.

Finances—Leroy Cooper, Frank Kelly.

Selection of Prize Winners—Sterling Potter, William Yesse, A. Doyle and Sol Rosenthal.

Business Gifts—Percy Quick, David McDonough, Leo Killian, Robert Corcoran.

This annual card party is the chief means of the Esopus Lions Club for raising funds to carry out their welfare program and for aid for underprivileged children of the town.

Couldn't Jug the Jug

HAINES CITY, Fla. (AP)—

Patrolman Jerry Hamric thought he had something when he spotted a man in a pickup truck with a gallon jug on the seat beside him. "I just knew that the jug was full of moonshine," Hamric said. He stopped the pickup.

"Have a drink," said the driver. It was ice water, said Hamric.

Guest Speaker Slated Sunday At Local Church

REV. ALEX PORTEUS

Guest speaker at special services Sunday in the Port Ewen Methodist Church will be the Rev. Alex Porteus of Newburgh, executive secretary of the New York Methodist Conference board of education and missions. The sermon topic will be "Ye Are My Witnesses," as he discusses the educational and missionary emphasis of the Christian Church.

In addition to the morning worship hour, the Rev. Mr. Porteus will meet with the commissions on missions and stewardship and finance at 2 p. m. and the commission on education and all Sunday school teachers 3:30 p. m. The evening program will begin with a covered dish supper at 5:30 p. m. which will honor the church basketball team and conclude with slides and a discussion of the whole mission program of the Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Porteus, a native of Maxville, Fla., is a graduate of DePauw University and has done graduate work at Butler University and Boston University School of Theology. He has majored in youth and student work.

Formerly a member of the New England Southern Conference, the Rev. Mr. Porteus was pastor of the East Bridge-water, Mass., Methodist Church from 1944 to 1948. In 1949 he joined the Illinois Conference and served as co-pastor of First Methodist Church, Springfield, until 1952. From 1953 to 1955 he was pastor of the Marshall, Ill. Methodist Church and went to Pittsfield in 1956.

He is a certified director of religious education, was vice president of the director's section of the National Conference on Education and is a member of the National Education Association.

For the past four years, the Rev. Mr. Porteus has been executive secretary of the Board of Education and Missions of the New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, with his office in Newburgh. He has taught in numerous laboratory schools, pastors' schools, workshops, and many other training enterprises.

Couple Sentenced To Gas Chamber For Murder of 2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ralph and Iva Kroeger were sentenced Tuesday to die for murdering an elderly couple last August to gain possession of their Santa Rosa, Calif., motel.

As the jury returned its verdict, Iva jumped up, pointed to Ralph and cried, "He wasn't even there!"

"I know," answered Ralph. An 11-week Superior Court trial of guilt or innocence was interrupted repeatedly by Iva's outbursts.

Iva was arrested in San Diego after a lengthy search. Ralph was jailed Aug. 20, the day the body of Jay Arneson, 68, an invalid ex-Army major, was found in a shallow grave in the basement of the Kroeger home here. The body of Mrs. Arneson, 58, was uncovered a day later, strangled like her former husband whom she had continued to nurse.

Police searched the Kroeger home after a man told them he had been hired by Mrs. Kroeger to dig a hole in the basement. Ralph said from the beginning, "I know nothing about it." He pleaded innocent.

Iva pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. Ralph, 61, and Iva, 44, were convicted March 8. The jury also ruled that Iva was sane.

Under California law, a trial to determine penalty had to be held. The penalty trial lasted only five hours. The jury deliberated 7 hours and 15 minutes before voting death sentences.

Case Is Adjourned

James Richards, 39, of 11 Broadway, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by his wife, Viola on a third degree assault charge. Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn today adjourned the case to April 13 when the defendant is due for sentencing on a like charge dating back to last Jan. 21. A third degree assault charge against Joseph Betley, 53, of 134 Third Avenue, who was arrested March 21 by his wife Gladys, was referred to family court.

Burial was in Montrose Cemetery where Rabbi Rappaport conducted the committal.

Owner Dismissed In Case About Unlicensed Driver

A charge alleging that he had permitted an unlicensed operator to drive a car, lodged against Ronald Gedney, 26, of Route 1, Box 169, Kingston, after a mishap at Flatbush and Foxhall Avenues Monday, was dismissed in city court today.

Cora D. Parker, 20, of Route 1, Box 181, Kingston, who, police said, drove the car involved, pleaded guilty through Attorney John E. Gotelli, to driving without a license, and Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn deferred sentence to April 2 pending investigation of certain circumstances involved. Gotelli also appeared for Gedney. Dismissal of the charge against the latter was with the consent of Assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon.

Gotelli contended lack of knowledge by Gedney that the operator of the car involved was unlicensed.

Blames Attack on U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — In a strong protest, the Soviet Union today held the United States responsible for the attack on the Soviet freighter Lzov by Cuban exiles March 17 off the north coast of Cuba.

The note asserted that "without material support from the U.S. government and without the supply of American arms and vessels the group of traitors to the Cuban people now hiding on U.S. territory could not engage in this kind of provocation."

The U.S. government, the note continued, "is virtually leading up to a dangerous aggravation of the situation in the Caribbean and throughout the world."

Mrs. Roseanna F. Martin

Mrs. Roseanna F. Martin, 79, of 44 Post Street, Saugerties, died Tuesday at Kingston Hospital. She was born Feb. 20, 1884 at Kingston, a daughter of the late George and Mary Beagle Freiligh. Her husband, Joseph Martin died 22 years ago. She was a member of St. Mary of the Snow Church, Saugerties and the Rosary Society of the church. Surviving are a daughter, Dorothy, wife of Merlin Wilber of Lake Hill; four sons, Kenneth E. of Coxsack; Cortland J., Gordon W. and Leroy F. Martin, all of Saugerties; a sister, Mrs. Lewis Mickle of Malden; three brothers, Martin, Leonard and Theodore Freiligh, all of Saugerties; also, 20 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and several nieces, nephews and cousins. The funeral will be held Friday 9:30 a. m. from Seamon Funeral Home Inc., John and Lafayette Streets, Saugerties; thence to St. Mary of the Snow Church where at 10 a. m. a requiem high Mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 this evening.

Joseph L. Bleitchofer

Joseph L. Bleitchofer, 78, of Lake Katrine, died at Benedictine Hospital Tuesday evening. Mr. Bleitchofer was born in Connelly a son of the late Benedict and Margaret Radel Bleitchofer. For many years he was employed as an engineer for the Cornell Steamboat Company and later by the Shamrock Towing Company. Since his retirement in the early 1940's, he had made his home in Lake Katrine. Surviving are his wife, the former Sarah Burns; a sister, Mrs. John Meyer of Connelly, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral will be held from the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Friday 9 a. m. and at St. Peter's Church where at 9:30 a. m. a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. ## Local Mortician Awarded Golden Rule Designation

Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue, for the fifth consecutive year has won the endorsement of the Order of the Golden Rule, the largest controlled-membership association of funeral directors in the world, according to information received this week.

Affiliation with the order is not permanent, not automatically renewed, according to the statement issued by the officers of the organization. Member firms are subject to an annual review of their policies, facilities, equipment and prices, with special emphasis on matters of community welfare. This inspection is made by a representative of the order at the direction of the home office in Springfield, Ill.

The Order of the Golden Rule is a non-profit organization which sets up ethical standards for its members on five continents. Members are pledged to the best of their abilities, regardless of the family's financial means.

Members of the order are identified by a symbol showing a knight in full armor, his shield emblazoned with the motto, "Service Measured Not by Gold, but by the Golden Rule." Ordinarily, only one funeral directing firm in each community is selected for membership.

Five Local Women Are Serving on State Committee

Five Ulster County women are on the traffic safety committee according to an announcement this week naming Mrs. James Keeley as chairman of the Mid-Hudson Valley Committee of the Women's Division, New York State Citizens Council on Traffic Safety. Mrs. Keeley, a Poughkeepsie resident, succeeds Mrs. Gifford R. Beal of Flatbush.

On the traffic safety committee are: Mrs. Henry Pletcher, Poughkeepsie; Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, Kingston; Mrs. William J. Haggerty, New Paltz; Mrs. William Hicks, Middletown; Mrs. Jerome Hurd, Clintonville; Mrs. Reamer Kline, Annandale-on-the-Hudson; Mrs. C. Victor Livingston, Cornwall; Mrs. Roger Mable, Port Ewen; Mrs. John Wagner, Balmville, Newburgh; and Mrs. Roberta Gaddis of Kingston, who also is serving as coordinator.

The Citizens Council is coordinating the statewide public effort aimed at combating the human and economic losses of traffic accidents. It is a volunteer organization which works through community groups, schools, business and industry. Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller is honorary chairman and William S. Renchard, president of the Chemical Bank New York Trust Company, is president.

Called to Diner

IRS Agent Explains About Expense Reports

"Why lose a deduction for failure of proof which is within your power to supply?" was the conclusion of a talk on new income tax regulations, given Tuesday night by Marvin Wiseman, chief of the review staff of the Albany District office of the Internal Revenue Service.

The talk was given at the monthly meeting of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley, at Nick Ben's Anchor Inn, Arlington.

Wiseman's talk was concerned primarily with the deductibility of travel and entertainment expenses on individual income tax returns as amended by the Revenue Act of 1962.

Wiseman's talk was followed by a number of questions from the floor. Approximately 65 members of the Home Builders Association attended the meeting. Many of the members brought with them their attorneys and accountants to hear Wiseman speak.

STATUS SYMBOL

There are two kinds of status symbols. One type has to do solely with financial status; certain makes of cars, mink coats, diamond tiaras and ocean-going yachts.

The other kind --- the kind we respect --- deals with achievement; things like a degree from a good school, the work of men like the Wright Brothers, Edison and Salk, the heroic acts of our men in uniform.

To become and to remain a member of the Order of the Golden Rule is a status symbol of the second kind. That's why we are truly and pardonably proud to announce that we remain the member of the Order in this community.

Held on Rape Charge

A 20-year-old North Valley Stream youth was taken into custody at Plattekill Tuesday by Highland state police, who booked him on a charge of third degree rape involving a minor. Trooper John Salters said Victor Mark Maulucci, of 44 Charles Street, North Valley Stream, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Philip W. Schunk and was ordered held pending an examination. The arrest was made by Investigator Joseph Franke and Troopers Harry Foster and James Spencer of the Highland sub-station.

Salesman Pleads Innocent

A 32-year-old salesman formerly employed by the Tri-Po-Bed Grotto, Poughkeepsie, pleaded innocent Tuesday before City Judge Milton Haven to a charge of second degree grand larceny. Robert C. Sattersley, was arrested in York, Pa., and later waived extradition. He is accused of misappropriating $400 the Grotto claims he collected while initiating an advertising campaign for a statewide Masonic meeting at Poughkeepsie in October. Judge Haven adjourned the case until Friday.

BRIDGE*Two Forms of Stayman Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There are two general forms of Stayman: forcing bid and non-forcing bid.

Mine is of the nonforcing variety, meaning that in most cases my two club response shows a good hand but I may also use it with a bad one.

My partner MUST rebid two of a suit over my two clubs irrespective of the strength of his no-trump. If his rebid is two diamonds it says that he does not have as many as four cards in either spades or hearts. If his rebid is two spades it tells me he has at least four spades and may or may not have four hearts also. If his rebid is two hearts it tells me that he has at least four hearts and does not have as many as four spades.

If I pass his rebid it is obvious I have a bad hand and that the rebid suits me. If I go to two spades over a two heart rebid or to two spades or hearts over a two diamond rebid I still show a bad hand and partner is supposed to pass and let me play at two of my suit.

North has an ideal hand for this form of Stayman. He has no interest in game and no interest in letting his partner play one no-trump. He wants to play two hearts if his partner holds four hearts, otherwise he wants to play two spades.

He responds two clubs. South goes to two hearts and plays it there. He will surely make his contract and may make an over-trick.

This is the only way North and South can show a profit. There is no way to make two spades or one no-trump.

If a cake has a sugary crust, there may be too much sugar or leavening in the recipe, or both; or the batter may have been improperly mixed.

Heavy Truck Traffic, Zoning Problems Discussed by Board

NEW PALTZ—The New Paltz Town Board at its recent meeting discussed the issue of large trucks using town side roads maintained by the town to by-pass the village.

Isaac Pole, town superintendent of Highways, reported that Shiverstown, Horsenden and South Put Corners Roads are being used by these large trucks and that they are ruining the highways which were not built to such heavy vehicle specifications. He reported that on the recommendation of County Superintendent Roland Green he had placed at various places signs prohibiting truck traffic beyond the load limit of four tons.

Justice John B. Tenaglia informed the board that he could not try cases where heavy trucks are issued summonses because the town has no ordinance pertaining to such cases. The board voted to begin work on an ordinance preventing such traffic of heavy vehicles on town roads, and will hold a public hearing in the near future on the proposed ordinance.

Object to Dogs
A letter was read from Mrs. Pauline Aiello and Mrs. Lawrence Lunkus asking if something could be done about stray dogs that are a menace about their properties. Town Attorney Peter Harp explained that there was no ordinance requiring owners to keep their dogs tied up. He said such an ordinance is difficult to enforce because it usually leads to a great deal of misunderstanding and hard feelings. He suggested that complaints be taken to the owners of the dogs.

Anthony Frascinella appeared before the board and read a statement he had prepared concerning the Stanley Hasbrouck Sr. zoning controversy. It read: "Gentlemen: A matter of importance, to the citizens of New Paltz generally, and to the homeowners of the Hasbrouck development on Valdivia Road, specifically, has been hanging fire too long. Because of the undue delay, I would like to address some questions to the board, in the hope that some answers will be forthcoming."

"1—Is this the town board's conception of justice to allow such an unreasonable length of time to pass before actively entering the controversy and seeking a solution?"
Questions Actions
"2—Can the town board explain why the planning board waited until they were formally asked for a variance by Mr. Hasbrouck, before informing him that his buildings were in violation?"
"3—The zoning ordinance requires planning board and county health department approval before a subdivision can be revised. Why did the Office of the Building Superintendent issue three building permits between January and December 1962 without such approval?"

"4—How is it there has been little or no communication between the planning board and the building superintendent's office?"
"5—Has any official thought of contacting Mr. Sheeley by telephone, wire or letter? And if not, why not?"
"6—Mr. Argiro, in newspaper reports, has implied that there have been many errors committed in the matter of issuing building permits. If this is so, why hasn't the building superintendent been replaced?"

"7—When building permits and certificates of occupancy are issued by duly authorized representatives of the community, is the citizen applying to be held accountable, if the official is in error?"
"8—Why have the very first two houses built by Mr. Hasbrouck over two years ago, only now shown to have incorrect setbacks?"

"Now, gentlemen, because my own property abuts on the property in question, I took part in the meetings between Mr. Hasbrouck, his attorney and the other homeowners in the vicinity. I have prepared for publication, a chronological account of the events as I learned them. I believe it will help the interested citizens of our community to determine whether or not, our town officials are doing their best to resolve this important matter, fairly, and promptly. Thank you—Anthony Frascinella."

Board Makes No Comment
Mr. Frascinella told the board he did not expect immediate answers to his questions. The board did not comment on Mr. Frascinella's statement.

Justice S. Parks Glenn suggested extending Manheim Boulevard north to the new school property. He suggested the idea should be brought before the public. Highway Superintendent Pole thought a bridge would need to be constructed as the incline is so steep it would be too costly to use fill.

Town Attorney Peter Harp, felt that this project would be very costly, but suggested the possibility of getting an estimate from the County Highway Department. This matter was tabled for further discussion.

Chamber Plans Youth Program

The New Paltz Chamber of Commerce has announced plans for a comprehensive youth in government program which will be sponsored by the chamber and other community organizations, businesses, and individuals. Walter Offerman, president of the chamber, reported at the recent meeting the project was first proposed by Grant Hague, the Chamber's executive director, and much of the ground work for the program has already been completed.

Offerman reported that Hague had visited a number of cities and towns where such programs are sponsored by various organizations and has obtained a first-hand knowledge of the organization of such a project.

He further announced that Hague would be in charge of the program for the Chamber. It is the intention of the chamber to call a meeting of representatives of all organizations and individuals locally who are interested in promoting this project in the near future.

Organizations to Cooperate
Offerman told the chamber many persons had been approached in the community and all had voiced approval of this program and pledged cooperation.

Offerman said the plans call for a community-wide effort which will include sponsorship of such organizations as the chamber, the town and village boards, the League of Women Voters, School Board, School Administrators and faculty, Parent-Teachers Associations, American Legion, Veteran of Foreign Wars, Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club.

He stated that various businesses and individuals in the community will participate by sponsoring certain phases of the program. He also outlined some of the ideas associated with the program. He said that this kind of program will do much to educate students in the workings of their local government.

The idea behind the program is that students in the local schools will hold an election to name the officers for the village board, town board and other government officers designated. The elected students will then on the designated day in October actually sit in on Board meetings and learn the duties of the offices to which they have been elected.

Event Slated in October

Under the plan proposed by the chamber of the program for the day in October will begin with a luncheon at noon that will be sponsored by a local restaurant and/or other businesses of organizations. After luncheon to be attended by all elected students and others in the program, the students will spend the afternoon with the village and town officials whose offices they fill.

Other afternoon activities include demonstrations of police work and Fire Department work and staging a mock trial to show students how justice is served in the courtroom.

The program for the evening will begin with a dinner and Offerman announced that Hague expects to be able to persuade

Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, to address the group at a local restaurant on some appropriate topic.

Hague announced that the youth in government program is the first of six programs to be presented by the chamber of commerce in the near future. Among others will be How to Increase Retail Sales, and How to Lower Town Taxes.

SPONGE CAKE, with sliced bananas between layers, is a popular Passover dessert. Serve after the Seder supper.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Serve Sponge Cake as Passover Sweet

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This special sponge cake, with sliced bananas between layers, is a popular Passover dessert. Serve as a festive sweet a little while after the Seder supper. The spiced wine cake is another favorite Passover treat.

PASSOVER BANANA SPONGE CAKE

(8 to 10 servings)

6 large eggs, separated
1 large whole egg
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup sifted potato starch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon oil
1 teaspoon ground mace or nutmeg
3 large bananas
Confectioners' sugar

Beat 6 egg yolks and the 1 whole egg together in a rotary or electric beater until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar, lemon juice and rind. Sift together potato starch, salt and nutmeg or mace. Gradually blend into the egg and sugar mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gently fold into the batter.

Rinse 3 ungreased 9-inch round layer cake pans with cold water. Line bottoms with waxed paper, cut to fit them. Divide the batter equally between the 3 pans. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes or until cake is firm in center. Cool in pans to prevent too much shrinkage.

Turn out into wire racks, having top sides up. Put layers together with sliced bananas. Dust top with confectioners' sugar. NOTE: In a household where the strict Seder laws are followed, cake may be topped with whipped cream if cake is not served as dessert for a meal in which meat or chicken is featured.

WINE PASSOVER CAKE

(A 10x4-inch tube cake)

1 1/4 cups matza cake meal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
6 tablespoons finely ground almonds
3 large eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/4 cup sweet red wine
1/4 cup fresh orange juice
1 1/2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Mix the first 4 ingredients together. Set aside. Beat egg yolks until they are thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until thick and light. Add wine, orange juice, orange and lemon rinds and beat with an electric mixer set at medium speed for four minutes. Fold in dry ingredients. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft, stiff peaks and fold into the batter. Turn into a 10x4-inch spring form pan or into a 10x4-inch round tube cake pan. Bake in a pre-heated slow oven (325 degrees) 1 1/2 hours or until done. Invert cake on a wire rack to cool. Remove from pan when cold.

Glancing Over TV

Cooper Tribute Bright in Spots But Is Laborious

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Cooper, declared his friend and co-worker, Walter Brennan, was "America's idea of the ideal American."

That, in essence, was the theme of Tuesday night's rambling, laborious tribute to the tall film star who died almost two years ago of cancer, aged 60. But that explains his success, not the man behind the hero's role.

It was pleasant to see bits of ancient movies showing a fresh-faced, shy young Cooper and some high points from his best-known films—even if they are still around on the late shows. Most interesting were some home movies showing a light-hearted Cooper mugging and clowning like any amateur subject.

But the NBC hour tried so hard for reverence that it was often dull and repetitious. Brennan, whose earthy voice was not comfortable with the lofty language of the script, told over and over how Gary liked to be alone and loved nature. The producer seemed to be short of material, filling in with shots of other people skiing and nature shots. Finally there was a long sequence at the end from an NBC television program that Cooper narrated six weeks before his death.

The Richard Boone we will see next season in a dramatic anthology series on NBC will no longer sport his Paladin-type mustache and his curly locks will be straight. This latter change will be a boon to Boone—who refuses to have a permanent wave for the part and must submit to curling irons as part of his morning make-up chores.

ABC plans a sort of circus version of "Route 66" next season. It will be an hour-long dramatic series, starring Jack Palance and Stuart Erwin as the circus' taskmaster and comptroller, and will be based on the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus, shot at its winter quarters in Florida and during its tour of the country.

Expansion of ABC's "Wagon Train" to 90-minutes next season means—for one thing—a very short vacation for the cast regulars and crew. Shooting of next season's episodes starts early next month after only three weeks off. The series will be made in color.

Recommended tonight: "Self Portrait," CBS, 7:30-8 (EST)—Winthrop Rockefeller, younger brother of New York's governor, sits for an interview at his Arkansas ranch; Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10—Carol Lawrence, orchestra leader Tex Beneke and singer Ray Eberle are the guest stars.

To Collect Through SLA

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The state plans to collect a proposed new levy on sales of liquor, beer and wine through the State Liquor Authority, rather than through regular tax-collecting channels.

The levy, to total $28 million a year, is to be assessed on wholesale sales calculated according to gallons sold, the same procedure used for calculating the present excise tax on liquor, beer and wine.

The bill establishing the new charge, termed a "brand label use permit fee," became available today.

Extension Ruling For State Return

ALBANY—State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy today reminded taxpayers that they need not make special requests for an extension of time to file and pay State personal income and unincorporated business tax returns after April 15—if similar extensions of time have been granted by the Federal Internal Revenue Service.

He pointed out that, under the benefits of Federal conformity, the State automatically grants an extension if a Federal extension has been granted.

Under provisions of a State Tax Commission regulation issued in November, a State taxpayer who has a Federal extension need only attach a copy of that extension to his State return. The extension does not relieve the taxpayer of having to pay six per cent annual interest for any taxes due.

If a State taxpayer wants an extension of time to file his New York return but has not obtained a Federal extension, he must make application to the New York State Income Tax Bureau, Alfred E. Smith State Office Building, Albany 1, New York, or to any State District Tax Office. The application must show adequate reason for granting the extension.

Ulster Hose 5 To Hold Carnival

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster Monday evening, President Robert Metscher named co-chairmen for arrangements for a carnival to be held at the Donato lot on 9-W from April 25 to May 4. Plans for participating in the annual Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's parade at Saratoga Springs, the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association parade at Saugerties on July 27 and the Memorial Day parade in Kingston also were announced.

Named by President Metscher as co-chairman on the carnival committee was Ira Brown and Burton Quick, who will supervise the Continental Shows, Inc., appearance under sponsorship of the company. Member of the fire company will be notified by card of the time for their work schedule. They will report at 6 p. m. on that date to the chairman in charge. The shows will be held nightly and on Saturday, April 27 and Saturday, May 4, there will be special matinees shows from noon to 5 p. m. for children.

Donald Crespiro, parade marshal, announced the fire company will participate in the Memorial Day parade in Kingston and at the Saratoga Springs and Saugerties parades. Music for the H.V.V.F.A. parade and Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's parade at Saugerties will be supplied by the Riverboat Jazz Band of Albany.

Sword Production

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—His manufacturing operation has produced 200,000 swords since he started his own plant in 1945, James Oliver estimates. Farming out some of the work to a dozen or so other business places around Columbus, Oliver is producing about 10,000 swords a year for ceremonial use by the Knights of Columbus in the United States and Chevalier de Colombo in Canada.

Dutchess Road Closed

Melting snow and rain combined to cause flood conditions in the Town of LaGrange, Dutchess County, and authorities closed a section of Overlook road in that township. It was reported that the Wappingers Creek overflowed its bank to a depth of nearly two feet on that road near the Overlook drive-in theater. A spokesman for the Ulster County Highway Department today said streams in the county are running high, especially in the mountain area, but no trouble had been reported on highways due to flood conditions.

Goldberg Addition Gives High Court Liberal Air On Rights and Freedoms

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nine man Supreme Court — thanks to Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, its newest member—now has a consistent liberal majority in cases involving civil rights and individual freedoms.

Less consistent—or predictable—is the course which Justice Byron R. White, the second newest member, will follow.

Both Named by JFK

He has shifted sides just enough in his short time on the bench to avoid being nailed down positively as a liberal or conservative. But he has been more conservative than Goldberg, whose record has been consistently liberal.

Both men were named to the court last year by President Kennedy as successors to two conservative justices who retired because of poor health: White for Charles E. Whittaker and Goldberg for Felix Frankfurter.

Frankfurter had pleaded for judicial restraint and deference to the wishes of Congress and state legislatures; in short, to the interests of government as against those of individuals. Whittaker leaned to that side, too.

They sometimes shifted positions on individual cases, as did the three other conservatives still on the court: Justices John M. Harlan, Tom Clark, and Potter Stewart.

When they stuck together these five conservatives prevailed as a majority.

Little Known of Views
It was when one or more of them shifted that the four liberals on the court—Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.—could hand down a majority opinion, particularly in intervening against restraints on individual rights.

Little was known of White's views when he became a justice. He had been an attorney and Kennedy backer in the 1960 campaign. Goldberg, a former labor lawyer, was known as a liberal on social and political matters.

But no positive forecast could be made on the course either Goldberg or White would follow since a previous position is not a guarantee of what a man's views will be once he goes on the court. Frankfurter had been a hero to the liberals before he became a justice.

This year the Warren-Black-Douglas-Brennan liberal group has been able to hand down one majority opinion after another because Goldberg has been with them steadily.

White has been less consistently on the liberal side.

Here are some examples:

The Boxscore

March 25—A 5-4 majority ruled that Communist-hunting legislators cannot dig freely into the affairs of groups not linked clearly with "subversive or other illegal or improper activities."

Goldberg was with the liberal majority. White with the conservative dissenting minority of Harlan, Clark and Stewart.

March 18—In a unanimous, 9-0 decision, the court ruled out use of drugs in obtaining confessions from arrested persons.

March 18—Again the nine justices were unanimous in saying a state must provide counsel to defend poor defendants in all criminal cases.

March 18—The court, 6 to 3, ruled that a pauper has a right to counsel if he wants to appeal his conviction.

This time Goldberg and White were with the four liberals. The dissenters again were Harlan, Clark and Stewart.

March 18—In a 5-4 split the court held that paupers in criminal cases must get a copy of the court record for appealing their cases.

Here again Goldberg, voting with the four liberals, made a majority decision possible for them. White joined Harlan, Clark and Stewart in dissent.

March 18—The court, 8 to 1, knocked out Georgia's county-unit system in voting, which meant each person's vote should be counted as one vote and not be lost through a county system in a statewide election.

Harlan was the dissenter.

Feb. 25—By an 8-1 vote the court ruled 187 Negroes were unjustly convicted of breach of the peace in demonstrating against racial segregation in South Carolina.

Goldberg and White were part of the majority. Clark also dissented.

Feb. 18—The court, 5 to 4, knocked out federal laws which strip citizenship from persons who stay abroad in wartime to avoid military service.

Goldberg was with the liberal majority. White joined Harlan, Clark and Stewart in dissenting.

Jan. 14—The court, 6 to 3, said

Jury Selection Starts

Selection of jurors for the trial of Leo Rabatory Jr., 31, on charges of conspiracy, third degree burglary and grand larceny second degree, got under way in Dutchess County Court at Poughkeepsie Tuesday. Rabatory and a 16-year-old youth, previously adjudged a youthful offender, were indicted on charges involving the alleged theft of silverware, food and other articles from the Marist College cafeteria, where both were employed.

Hopeful Seaway Will Be Ready For April 15th

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway is expected to be shapely in time for the scheduled start of navigation April 15.

But a Canadian Seaway spokesman, reporting this Tuesday, added the caution—"Weather and ice conditions permitting."

The spokesman said much of the 185-mile waterway was covered with more than two feet of ice.

Engineers are working to free lock machinery to permit the ice-breaker Ernest LaPointe to pass through to clear channels.

In Massena, N.Y., Joseph H. McCann, U.S. Seaway administrator, said he expected no problems from ice.

Urges Reasonable School Race Balance

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The president of Columbia University Teachers College says school-attendance districts should contain a "reasonable balance of races" or racial tensions will result.

Dr. John H. Fischer made the comment Tuesday in a speech to schoolboard members and school administrators from throughout the state at a conference on public relations. The State Education Department sponsored the meeting.

Fischer said school boards must make certain that every child attends a school that "the whole community views as the equal to every other school."

About 250 educators attended the one-day conference.

in Woodstock, Phoenixia, Saugerties and Kingston have distributed coin containers in connection with the drive which started March 6 and will continue through April 15. The sale of Easter Seals provides, among other services, campships for crippled children, allowing them to attend special camps. Three from Ulster County received campships last year. The society was started in 1921 with the first Easter seals being mailed in 1934. (Freeman photo)

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

In the Saturday, March 16, 1963 Freeman on page 16 was a large shambrook in which were many well-known Irish family names. O. A. Goodsell, of 43 Crane Street loaned me an 1858 Kingston-Rondout directory and so I started to check the names in Rondout, in 1858. John O'Brien was a boatman and lived in Wilbur. Michael O'Brien a contractor lived on Division near Holmes Street. Today it is called Broadway and McEntee Street. Timothy O'Leary was in the liquor business corner Division near Ireland. Ireland, I understand is now called Spring Street. Patrick O'Neill was a farmer at Mill near Division Street. Edward O'Reilly was in the grocery and clothing business at 19 Lackawanna in Rondout. Andrew O'Reilly was in the same line at 21 Lackawanna, which I take it to be West Strand now. Francis O'Reilly was a grocer at Division near Pond. Patrick O'Reilly was a blacksmith and lived at Catherine near Hasbrouck Avenue. Terence O'Reilly was a grocer at Mill and Division, and lived I take it at the same place, corner Broadway and Mill Street.

Thomas Kelly was a boatman and lived on Hasbrouck Avenue. John McCarty was in the liquor business at Lackawanna. John McCausland was a ship carpenter and lived at Hunter and Ravine. John McCluskey was in the liquor business at Abeel and Ridge Street. Michael McCluskey was a shoemaker, at Catherine and Hasbrouck Avenue. Edwin McCoy was a ship carpenter and lived in the Clinton Hotel.

Barney, Michael and Thomas Cassidy lived in Rondout in 1858. Thomas Cloonan was a grocer at Division corner Calder. Edward Connelly was a boatman lived on Hudson Street. John and Mary Conroy, (widow of Patrick) lived on Meadow Street corner Chamber Street. Michael Cooney was a grocer at Division Street. Dennis Costello was a boatman and lived at Calder Street near Post Street. Thomas Cullan, a ship carpenter lived on the Wilbur Road. James, Patrick and Martin Delaney lived in Rondout in 1858.

William E. Dempsey had a restaurant at the Rhinebeck Ferry and lived on Ravine Street near Ireland. The Rev. Patrick Dering was pastor of St. Mary's Church corner Division near Holmes Street. John Dillon of the Rondout machine works lived in the Mansion House. Michael Doolan is listed in the book. Thomas Dooley was a butcher at 39 Division Street. Timothy Dooley was in the liquor business at 41 Division Street. John Dougherty was a grocer at 37 Division Street. Nicholas Doyle was a cement worker in Ponckhockie. Patrick, Luke and Barney Duffy lived in Rondout then.

Thomas Fitzgerald was a shoemaker. James Flaherty was a cooper. Matthew Flanagan had a variety store on Division opposite Abeel Street. John Flaherty had a grocery store on Wilbur Road. John Flynn was a boatman. Patrick Flynn had a liquor store at Division near Ravine Street. Patrick J. Flynn was a grocer at Division near Ireland (Spring Street and Broadway.) Peter Gallagher was a post office clerk. Andrew, Charles, Michael and Patrick Jordan are listed on Meadow Street. These are some of the hard working folks from Ireland who helped build up Rondout in the 1850's.

Search Continues

MIDDLEBURG, N.Y. (AP)—A search continued today for Lawrence Van Aller Jr., 2, missing and presumed drowned in a thaw-swollen creek near his home in this Schoharie County community. The sheriff's department said the boy had wandered away from his back yard late Tuesday, accompanied by his dog. When the dog returned alone to the house, the child's parents notified authorities.

Deputies, State Police and volunteer firemen searched the area overnight after tracing the child's footsteps to the edge of Little Schoharie Creek.

Rocky Rebuffs Meany Protest Of Bargain Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today rebuffed the protest of national AFL-CIO President George Meany against Rockefeller's plan to extend collective bargaining rights to non-profit hospital workers.

Meany had wired the governor on March 12 contending that the proposed legislation would set "a dangerous precedent" by introducing the principle of compulsory arbitration.

In a letter replying to the powerful labor leader, Rockefeller said in effect that Meany apparently did not know enough about the bill to understand what it really did.

Said Rockefeller: "It is not clear to me from your telegram that you have had an opportunity personally to review the bill which was introduced at my behest."

The clash between Rockefeller and Meany had strong political overtones in view of Rockefeller's status as an undeclared candidate for next year's Republican presidential nomination.

The governor has taken pains to depict himself as a friend of the working man and had substantial support from organized labor in his successful reelection campaign last year.

Rockefeller's bill would allow employees of non-profit hospitals to join labor unions and bargain collectively if they renounced strikes as a bargaining weapon. They would have to submit disputes to binding arbitration if an impasse occurred. Illegal strikes could be halted by court injunctions.

Meany lodged his protest after the State AFL-CIO came out against the bill. He said at the time that the legislation would impose "unfair restrictions and limitations on the economic weapons of a labor organization."

Rockefeller pointed out in his letter that the bill evolved from his role in settling a hospital strike in New York City last summer. He promised then that he would sponsor collective-bargaining legislation.

Takes 'Twin' Auto

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Everything was fine until Charles Barry of Syracuse reached for the knob on the automobile radio. There wasn't any radio.

It was then Barry realized that it wasn't even his automobile. He had driven off in a "twin" that had been parked near his on a Syracuse street. Meanwhile, the twin was reported stolen, but the incident was settled amicably.

Catskill Driver Held

Joseph Federico, 61, Allan Street, Catskill, was arrested by state police on charges of failure to have insurance, operating an unregistered vehicle and driving while intoxicated. Before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan of Town of Kingston he was held in $25 bail under each of the charges of no insurance and operating an unregistered vehicle and $50 cash bail for a hearing on the driving while intoxicated charge.

Legion Auxiliary Initiates Four New Members

President Gladys Amend welcomed four new members into the auxiliary of Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion in an initiation ceremony during a recent meeting at the Legion Home.

The new members are Blanche Peters, Mary Ann Maines, Rita Rosner and Hazel Gill.

The standing committee reports were as follows:

Cancer Control Chairman Julia Cox reported receiving 50 pounds of material and 15 pounds of silk stockings for the making of cancer pads.

Rehabilitation Chairman Edith Schaffer reported cigarettes and a get well card was sent to an ill veteran.

Membership Chairman Catherine Van Gaasbeek reported 115 paid up members.

Publicity Chairman Anne Johnson reported five articles were published in three papers.

The annual poppy sale of the auxiliary will take place in May with 2,000 poppies ordered for the sale.

The March of Dimes Drive reported canvassers worked 1,006 hours and the total amount realized was $1,456.90.

On Saturday from 12 noon until 4 p. m. the auxiliary will entertain 35 veterans from Albany VA Hospital. A roast beef dinner will be served and entertainment will be provided following the dinner.

The annual magazine subscription drive of Ulster County American Legion Auxiliary is soon to take place in Saugerties. We ask the public to help make this subscription drive a success, Mrs. Amend said.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by Rosemary Martin, Alice McWeeny and Jeanette Mickle. A special award was won by Julia Cox.

Refreshment committee for April meeting will be Maureen Miller, Jeanette Mulligan and Margaret O'Dea.

Saugerties High Honor Roll Listed

Only one student, Linda Boettcher, of the senior class was listed on the honor roll for this marking period. However six seniors made the credit roll listing.

To meet honor roll requirements a student must pass at least three of all subjects taken five times per week with an A mark, and all other taken five times per week with a B and no failing marks. Those on the credit roll must pass everything with no marks lower than B.

Seniors on the Credit Roll are Evelyn Anderson, Francis Bishop, Karen Eckerlein, Brenda Knecht, Gerard Rea, and Margaret Rightmyer.

Others on the Honor Roll are:

Juniors
Butkins, Paul; Graham, Karen; McLaughlin, Phyllis and Stahl, Sharon.

Sophomores
Decker, Peter; Kaminski, Lorraine; Kruger, Hilda; Pavlinik, Edward; Rogers, Gary and Snyder, Wesley.

Freshmen
Bonack, Sharon; Bonach, Stephen; Colich, Alan; Cogan, Helen; Farrell, Shelley; Caglianella, Susan; Genthner, Carolyn; Henry, Darlene; Hulme, Cheryl; Hurley, Edward; Mills, Gretchen; Newton, Dianne; Schordine, Nancy; Seither, Rose Ann and Whitaker, Judith.

Those on the Credit Roll are:

Juniors
Brady, Michael; DePaola, Sandra; Gardner, Lorraine; Misasi, Joan; Myers, Glenford; Pritchitt, Kathleen; Schoentag, Susan; Stauss, Janet, and Tessandori, Georgina.

Sophomores
Maines, Catherine; Mooney, Carolyn; Rosner, Mary, and Sacks, Victor.

Freshmen
Carnright, Barbara; Davis, Nancy; Finger, Terry; Overbagh, Jane; Salm, Robert; Walda, Robert, and Wells, Jo-Ann.

200 Vols, Guests

Honor Outgoing

Department Chief

More than 200 volunteer firemen, state, county and town officials and guests honored outgoing Fire Chief Henry Amend at the annual Chief's Night banquet held Tuesday night at Saugerties VFW Hall.

Amend, a member of Washington Hook and Ladder Company completes his term of office on Monday when Earl Martin of C. A. Lynch Fire Company succeeds to chief.

Serving with the new chief will be Walter Johnson of R. A. Snyder Fire Company, first assistant, and LeRoy Snyder of Washington Hooks, second assistant.

Chief Amend received his past chief's pin from Cortland Van Etten, and the traditional gold watch from William Schaffer, newly elected village trustee and fire commissioner-elect.

Robert A. Snyder, clerk of Ulster County Board of Supervisors, served as toastmaster.

Edmund U. Burhans, Saugerties postmaster, a past chief and current president of R. A. Snyder Fire Company, delivered a brief outline of the history of the department.

Easter Egg Hunt

Slated on April 6

Saugerties Jaycees will hold the annual Easter egg hunt Saturday, April 6th at 11 a. m. when more than 3000 candy eggs will be hidden at Cantine and Knaust Fields by the Jaycees.

This event is for children from 2 to 12. The boys and girls will be separated into two groups and the groups will be further divided into age classes as follows: 2 through 4; 5 through 7; 8 through 12.

Prizes will be awarded to the child in each class who finds a special prize egg. Arthur Bunch of Churchland Road has been appointed Jaycee project chairman and he will be assisted by Robert Galpin and George Leombruno.

In the event of rain, the hunt will be held at 11 a. m. on April 13.

15 Glasco Volunteers

Complete Rescue Course

Fifteen members of Glasco Fire Company recently completed a course in resuscitation using the company's newly acquired equipment.

Fire Chief Charles Cafaldo said the new resuscitator is now available for use with trained personnel.

Those requiring a resuscitator should call the fire phone for emergency service, the chief said.

Veterans Information

Charles Culver, state veterans counselor will outline veterans' benefits at an open meeting for veterans at Saugerties VFW Hall 8:30 o'clock tonight.

All veterans, whether members of the VFW or not are welcome to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Outgoing Mayor Issues Statement, Term Ends April 1

Mayor George P. Holmes, who will complete 12 years of service as mayor of the Village of Saugerties on Monday, today issued a statement of congratulations and farewell.

"With this statement I conclude 12 years as mayor of the Village of Saugerties. I have always enjoyed serving in the interest of our community and have many years of public service to reflect upon. I have made acquaintances and friendships through public life which I may never have had the opportunity to form. To that I suppose I must add that by reason of my position as mayor with the many responsibilities attached, I have incurred the animosity of some of our citizens.

"I would like to take this opportunity to extend the heartfelt thanks of myself and trustees Elton Johnson, Ted Longendyke and Frank Short of the Independent Party for the support which the public has given us over the many years.

"In addition I would be remiss in my obligation as head of the Independent Party if I failed to thank personally every one of the fine men and women who contributed their time and efforts and without which our strong showing on election day would not have occurred." However the facts being facts, the largest vote ever recorded in a village election has indicated to me that some 57 per cent of the citizens agreed "it's time for a change."

"I extend to my successful opponents of the Village Party my wishes that they serve wisely and well in the interests of the village. They now hold and will hold absolute power in the Village of Saugerties for the next two years. I say this to the citizens of Saugerties, let us not criticize their efforts needlessly and let us praise them if praise is warranted. If their extensive programs bear no fruit for the village, then within a few years the head of their party will most likely be making a statement similar to this.

On Way to Talk

Against British

Pipes for Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball goes to London today to try to convince the British that large-diameter steel pipes are strategically important commodities which should not be shipped to the Soviet Union. The British presumably will disagree.

This will hardly surprise Ball. He was told the same thing last Monday when he summoned Sir David Ormsby Gore, the British ambassador, to discuss the controversial pipe issue.

Likely to Stir Nikita

Ball's mission likely will arouse the ire of Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The Soviet leader already has accused the United States of having "exercised crude pressure" upon its allies persuading them to refuse Soviet pipe orders.

By doing so, Khrushchev said in a Moscow election speech last month, the United States was interfering in Soviet relations with third countries and this, he said, was "a manifestation of the senseless policy of cold war."

The controversy started when the Russians began dreaming about a gigantic 2,500-mile pipeline to deliver Soviet oil to European satellites and, perhaps, across the Iron Curtain to Western Europe.

Factors Involved

To realize this dream the Soviets needed 40-inch pipes. These were the factors involved:

1. Only a few industrialized countries—the United States, Britain, West Germany, Italy, Sweden and Japan — produce such large pipes.

2. The Soviets did not manufacture such pipes until now, preferring to order them abroad. Moscow announced Tuesday that the Chelyabinsk steel plant turned out its first 40-inch pipe.

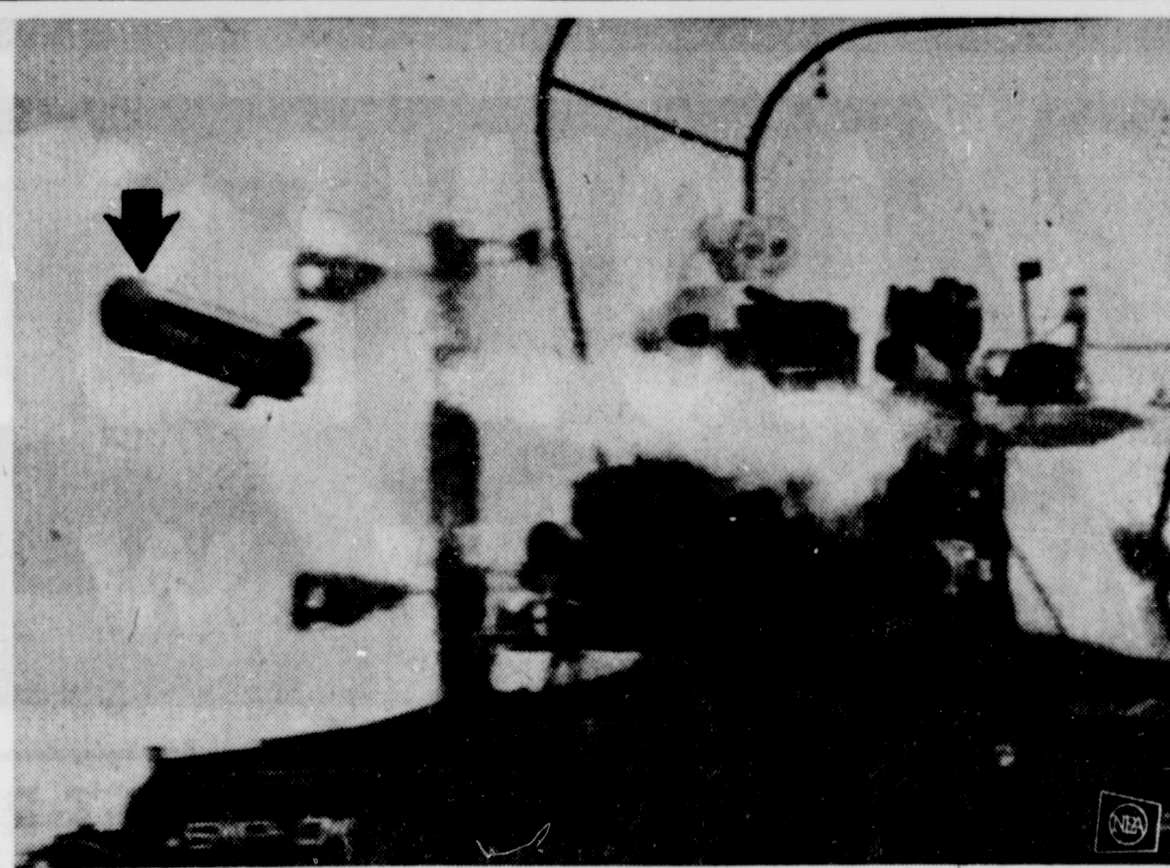

3. Originally, large-diameter pipes were on the embargo list of the 15-nation coordinating committee on export controls. The list contains strategic items over which the participating governments exercise control of exports to the Communist bloc.

4. In 1954 the pipes were removed from the embargo list and transferred to the so-called watch list of nonembargoed items.

5. Finally, when various lists were dropped in 1958 and only the embargo list remained, pipes became free of export controls or surveillance.

The Russians began to shop in the West for pipes.

Last November, the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization recommended that its members refuse Soviet orders for pipes. The British voted for the resolution.

Man Suffers Burns In Oven Blow-Back

Thomas Walczek, 69, of 41 North Front Street, employed as a part-time night watchman at Williams Lake, was burned about the face and hands this morning when a gas oven in the hotel kitchen blew back when he was in the act of lighting the oven.

Walczek turned on the gas about 6:30 a. m. in the bake oven. He told Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone that he must have delayed in lighting the oven. When he attempted to light it the gas blew back inflicting first and second degree burns on his hands and face.

He was taken to the Kingston Hospital later by his daughter-in-law Mrs. Blossom Walczek, where he was treated and released.

Larger Than Parents

When a young eagle leaves the nest, it is larger than its parents by as much as a pound in weight and a foot in wingspan.

Contraction of bones in maturity and strenuous exercise bring the eaglet down to size.

Deserter Gives Up

MOSCOW (AP) — A Moscow newspaper reported Tuesday a 44-year-old World War II deserter recently gave himself up after 21 years in hiding.

Sovetskaya Rossiya (Soviet Russia) said the man, prematurely aged, had hidden in a shed behind the hut of his two sisters in the village of Kloptsy, near Leningrad.

The statute of limitations on World War II desertions ran out in 1957, so the ex-soldier was given a job on a collective farm, the newspaper said.

C-H Reelects Directors for '63

Approximately 315 common stockholders of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation were in attendance Tuesday at the annual meeting of stockholders in the utility's Poughkeepsie general office. Of the outstanding shares of common stock eligible to vote 2,765,780, or over 82 per cent were represented in the voting either by proxy or in person.

Reelects directors at yesterday's meeting to serve for the year were: Ernest R. Acker, chairman of the board; Peter Cantline, Newburgh; Roy C. Ketcham, Fishkill; William J. Mair, Poughkeepsie; Fabian L. Russell, Saugerties; C. B. Schmidt, Hopewell Junction; Henry D. Sherwood, Pine Plains; Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president, and John Wilkie, vice chairman of the board.

Acker presided over the meeting, introduced members of the company's board of managers to the gathering and reviewed the company's operations in 1962.

The stockholders were shown a 25-minute color film highlighting the company's progress during 1962 in terms of the residential, commercial and industrial growth of the Mid-Hudson Valley and describing the investor-owned electric utility industry's plans for its exhibit building at the 1964-1965 New York World's Fair.

Los Angeles County has nearly three million vehicles registered.

Peace Corps Director Urges KHS Juniors to Make Plans

A Peace Corps director Tuesday told 450 high school juniors, "It's time for you to decide the kind of a world in which you want to live, and to make plans for it now."

Mike van Ryn, director of special events for the Peace Corps Training Program and assistant professor of the State University College at New Paltz, keynoted the Kingston High School Career Day Conference when he addressed the students at a special assembly.

The conference began with greetings and introductions by Dan H. Allen, principal, who thanked Mrs. Seymour Semilof and Kurt Eisler, conference co-chairmen; Mrs. Robert A. Ronder and David Kline, presidents respectively of the B'nai B'rith chapter and lodge who co-sponsored the event; Miss Lois Prescott and the guidance department, co-sponsors; the B'nai B'rith committees, and the student guides handling special assignments for the day.

37 Career Consultants

Allen had special praise and thanks for the 37 guests career consultants visiting the high school from far and wide to lead the vocational workshops.

Allen then introduced Kline, who is also a former high school teacher and currently a member of the board of education. Kline expressed his pleasure, on behalf of B'nai B'rith and the board of education, at being able to take part in a program of such value to youth.

The purpose of Career Day is to assist juniors in their vocational plans by making available to them, through expert-led workshops, a multitude of information concerning various careers along the lines of their interests.

Dr. Kline introduced Marshall Lipton, executive assistant to Mayor Schwenk, who greeted the assembly on behalf of the city of Kingston. He said, "I urge you to take full advantage of the sessions that follow. There's another world outside these doors, teeming with competition in which unpreparedness leads to confusion and waste."

'Most Valuable Resource'

The theme of the conference was "Youth—Our Most Valuable Resource."

Speaking on a day as bright and sunny as the future youth can carve for themselves, van Ryn exhorted the attentive juniors to do more about world affairs than merely discuss them.

"You, I hope, are anxious to correct the evils in this world such as poverty and hunger. I hope each of you will consider seriously your opportunity to help," he said.

Extolls Peace Corps

One of the ways to help, van Ryn declared, is through the Peace Corps, a completely voluntary organization which provides skilled assistance currently to 42 nations. He then outlined a strenuous, 16-hour day training program given last summer at New Paltz that helped prepare 60 teachers for assignments in Sierra Leone, West Africa.

"The Peace Corps training program is not a ball," said he. "It demands hard work."

The New Paltz program included courses in language study, practical do's and don'ts for that particular culture, language workshop, American studies, world affairs, Communism, health instruction, physical fitness, and even sessions in jeep instruction and rugby and soccer.

Anyone over 18 can obtain more information about joining the Peace Corps by writing to Washington, D. C.

The assembly then broke up into 18 workshops in other fields of endeavor, which was followed 70 minutes later by 17 additional workshops, covering 30 subjects. Each student was able to attend two workshops, listening to an outline of the vocation, training and education necessary and opportunities in the field.

Substitute Speakers

Substituting for speakers previously announced were George Nagy, representing the Hudson Valley Building Council; Miss Louise Karkargo, representing the Ulster County Home Extension Service; Mrs. George Davern, graduate of the Bowdoin School of Modeling; and Percy Boyce, high school representative, Albany Business College.

Conference hosts and hostesses from the B'nai B'rith lodge and chapter included William Klein, Charles Ronder, and the Mmes. Edwin Kalish, Stanley Kleinberg, William Helmrich, Robert Ronder, Seymour Semilof, Lewis Neporent, Carl Lipton, Harry Simon, Flo Powell and Seymour Werbalowsky.

Named to Head

Seeks Volunteers

Bechtold appealed for a record number of volunteers to join the Crusade so that the fight against cancer can be stepped up. "If we all work together," he said, "I am sure we can make the 1963 Crusade a record one in lives saved and in the funds that are urgently needed for research."

Bechtold has resided in Kingston for over 30 years. He is employed by the New York Central Railroad as a conductor and brakeman and is a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. He is a member of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company, and of Masonic Lodge No. 10. Bechtold and his wife, Marie, have four children: Captain J. Gerald Bechtold, U. S. Army; Bruce, an engineer at Cape Canaveral, Fla.; Elizabeth, a junior at Kent State University in Ohio; and Neil, a student at Kingston High School.

HOW IT'S DONE—Students from Central Academy of Beauty Culture, Newburgh with instructor Doris Palmer, right, demonstrate hair setting techniques for juniors attending beauty culture workshop. Students could attend two workshops of their choice. (Freeman photos)

FUTURE FORESTERS—F. F. Weight, forester with the New York State Division of Lands and Forests, Middletown explains operation and aims of his profession in one of the 37 workshops offered at Career Day.

DISCUSS MEDICAL FIELD—Dr. Albert Rosenberg, director of pediatrics at Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie and Northern Dutchess Hospital, Rhinebeck, discusses opportunities in the field of medicine with interested Kingston High School juniors at Career Day workshop Tuesday afternoon. The annual event is sponsored by B'nai B'rith and B'nai B'rith Women.

Has Date . . .

maintain the effort to keep an independent British (nuclear) deterrent in being," Wilson has said. "We would simply phase them (Britain's force of H-bombers) out of existence."

Clinging to nuclear power is merely "striving to relieve our imperial greatness." The policy should be abandoned because the cost in economic and military resources has weakened British influence and her contribution to NATO.

Mind Is Open

Wilson's mind is open, however, toward possible British participation in Kennedy's project for an internationally manned NATO nuclear force.

4. Relations with non-Communist Europe: Wilson believes that any arrangement or commitment Britain might make with European countries should be entirely consistent with her wider loyalties to the Commonwealth and the Atlantic community. He favors economic and political exchanges within the framework of the organization for European Cooperation and Development. He thinks this could provide the base for a new European free trade area in which the Common Market countries could participate as a six-nation bloc.

5. Presses for Cooperation: Wilson's starting point for a possible cold war trace lies in the positive attitudes which he thinks President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev have displayed toward negotiation and compromise.

He would, therefore, like to see priority given to halting nuclear weapon testing and the arms race and strengthening of East-West cooperation in the United Nations and an assault on poverty and to boost trade wherever possible.

6. Berlin and East Germany: Berlin's disputed future packs the promise of a wider German settlement as well as the peril of world war. Wilson accordingly urges a bargain: the Allies should give limited recognition to the Communist East German regime and recognize the Oder-Neisse River line as the final eastern frontier of all Germany. In exchange the Soviet Union and her allies should accept the right of West Berliners to choose their own form of government and society and the right of the West to station troops there as custodians of the deal.

View on Germany

7. Relations with West Germany: Wilson has declared Labor to be "completely, utterly and unequivocally opposed, now and in all circumstances, to any suggestion that Germany, West Germany or East Germany, directly or indirectly, should have a finger on the nuclear trigger"—or any other share in the use of nuclear weapons. He also has professed uneasiness over the direction of the French-German treaty, fearing it might become revenge-seeking and the core of a European third force.

8. Disengagement: Labor's most radical proposal has been borrowed from the proposal of Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki for a disengagement of East-West forces in middle Europe. This would create a zone of controlled armaments in which nuclear weapons would be barred. It would cover the two Germanys, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

Wants Areas Neutralized

9. Neutralization: This disengagement plan would neutralize that part of Europe which has cradled three major wars since 1871. Labor wants the highly sensitive parts of Africa and Asia neutralized, too, including the Middle East oil regions and the island of Formosa, held by Nationalist China.

10. Attitude on Asia and Africa: Wilson wants an initiative for an East-West agreement to keep as much as possible of Asia and Africa out of the cold war. He favors admission of Communist China to the United Nations in place of Chiang Kai-shek's regime. He proposes a "rational" distribution of food surpluses, steel, rolling stock and other surpluses to the needy, developing states of Asia and Africa.

11. Commonwealth:

Wilson intends reappraising Commonwealth relations to counter the damage which he says Britain's partners suffered during the Common Market talks. He plans a quick Commonwealth summit meeting at which old trading patterns can be streamlined and re-furbished.

On Market Challenge

12. World Trade: Wilson has put forward a detailed program to beat the Common Market's trade challenge. He wants to develop British trade with the Communist bloc, Latin America, the dollar world and with Europe where possible. He feels Britain should negotiate a series of tariff-cutting agreements that would stimulate business.

13. United Nations: Wilson would strengthen British support for the United Nations. The British U.N. delegation probably would find itself working more closely with the United States in dealing with Asian and African nations.

14. British Home Policy: Achievement of Wilson's goals depends largely on the restoration of Britain's standing in the world. Wilson has summed up the feelings of many Britons by saying: "We're tired of seeing this country being pushed around."

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

KENNEDY TALK: President Kennedy, in an off-the-record talk to the Magazine Publishers Association, put in a plug for his tax cut proposal and covered a wide range of other subjects.

In a 30-minute appearance, part of which was devoted to answering questions, Kennedy reportedly told the magazine publishers Tuesday that two key problems are keeping employment up and recognizing a responsibility to assist new nations.

When one questioner prefaced his query by remarking on Kennedy's popularity in polls, the President reportedly laughed and said: "I don't know how you got into this room."

WHISKY-MUSIC: Four members of the Air Force's "Strolling Strings" musical organization are under investigation in a case involving smuggling of whisky from Bermuda.

Air Police boarded a C-54 transport bringing the musicians from a Bermuda appearance to Andrews Air Force Base and found about 120 bottles of liquor in foot lockers. Tariff regulations permit a traveler to bring into the United States, tariff free, a gallon. Whisky selling for $5.75 to $6 a bottle in this country may be purchased in Bermuda for $1.25 to $1.50 a bottle.

CANNED TUNA: After investigation and laboratory tests, the Food and Drug Administration has concluded that two Detroit women died as a result of eating canned tuna fish contaminated with type E botulinus toxin.

Commissioner George P. Larrick of the agency said Tuesday a single can of tuna was involved, that this is a rare type of botulinism in the United States.

He said the suspect tuna was canned by the Washington Packing Corp., San Francisco, and marketed under an A&P Tea Co. label. It bore the code number WY3Y2 over 118X. The FDA, he said, has examined 150 additional cans of tuna bearing that code number with negative results. But he recommended that tuna from cans bearing the code not be eaten.

Engravers Ballot

the Herald Tribune and a spokesman for the publishers, said that if ratification comes quickly, "We will publish Thursday papers."

Amplifying, he said that if ratification came by 6 p.m., he expected that all morning papers would publish but he did not indicate when he thought the four morning dailies would get their first editions on the streets.

Settled at 2:17 A.M.

Wagner announced tentative settlement of the photoengravers' strike at a news conference at 2:17 a.m.

The announcement came almost exactly 109 days after the newspaper shutdown was precipitated at 2 a.m. last Dec. 8 by a strike of the printers union against four of the city's nine major dailies. The other five papers closed down voluntarily but one, the Post, resumed publication March 4.

Wagner said his photoengraver settlement formula contained "certain amendments" to the proposal he made Monday night. Publishers accepted that proposal Tuesday morning. They also accepted the amendments, the mayor said.

In Framework of Package

The amendments, he added, "are within the framework of the $12.63 which has been the wage package of all the unions involved."

The proposed settlement for photoengravers provides, in its first year, a $2.50 weekly wage increase, a 75-cent weekly contribution to the union welfare fund by employers, and a fourth week of vacation after a year of employment.

In the second year of the contract, the engravers will get an additional $1 weekly in wages, a reduction in the work week on the overnight shift from 36½ to 35 hours, and three days of personal leave.

McGowan said the personal leave — apparently the chief amendment — was in lieu of his union's demand for a reduction in the work week to 35 hours for all newspaper engravers, regardless of their work shift.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to rise in fairly active trading early today with savings-and-loans strong.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to about a point, although most advances were small.

The stocks of the savings-and-loan companies were in their third straight day of rallying. A published report that they are expected to propose a series of mergers in the next several weeks focused further attention on these issues.

The volume leader in this group, San Diego Imperial gained ½ at 12¼ on a big opener of 14,000 shares and improved its price slightly. Fractional gains were also posted for United Financial of California, Great Western Financial, and California Financial.

Corporate bonds were mostly steady.

Rochester Planning Board Meets Tonight

The Planning Board of the Town of Rochester will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at 8 p. m. in the Accord Fire Hall.

The public is invited to attend. There will be further discussion on installment paying of taxes, additional signs and lights for roads, the use of vacant land for picnic and swimming areas, etc.

Jury May Get Stabbing Case

Testimony in the first degree manslaughter charge against John Willie Clifton, Milton, is expected to be completed today and the case submitted to the jury late in the afternoon, following the summations by Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torrance and defense counsel, Charles Saccoman, and the charge by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Clifton is charged with the stabbing of his wife, Alessa, last January 5, following an argument. Clifton allegedly stabbed his wife with a knife and she was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie. Clifton alleges the stabbing took place when he attempted to take the knife away from his wife and she stabbed herself during the struggle. Witnesses testified Mrs. Clifton had been drinking to excess at the time and that she had concealed the knife on her person earlier in the evening.

resulted in Miss Klaben's rescue. McCullum said he landed his light plane in a narrow, tree-lined clearing about three miles from Miss Klaben's campsite. The pilot who had spotted the pair, Chuck Hamilton, had been cautioned earlier by Indians not to try to land in the hazardous flue. After McCullum landed safely, Hamilton "glowed" in his plane. McCullum, a pilot for the Canadian Department of Transport—which corresponds to the U.S. Civil Aviation Agency—said he had been docked a half-day's pay—$15—for making the landing.

His superior, W. L. Martel, denied McCullum had been fined but refused to say whether he had been reprimanded.

that numbers would increase rather than decrease. He said the school would be short 18 elementary classrooms.

Architect Albert Milliken of Kingston presented sketches of plans including a five-classroom addition to Mt. Marion School, a 26-classroom addition to Saugerties High School, and a 21-classroom elementary school building at one of several rural sites under consideration.

He indicated that test borings had been made on the proposed Winston site and said the soil was satisfactory for a school building. Costs had been figured on $17 per square foot, approximately the average cost of school construction throughout the state, he said.

Tentative estimates are: High school addition $1,409,640; Mt. Marion addition $120,000 and new elementary building $1,000,000. He said these estimates were for construction only and did not include architect fees, furniture and equipment, land and site improvement, borings and surveying as well as bond issue expenses.

May Expel Bidault

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Portuguese security police questioned former French Premier Georges Bidault today and a spokesman indicated he may be expelled from the country.

Police picked up Bidault's luggage. This aroused speculation he would be taken direct to the airport or to another hideout. A police spokesman said Bidault and his secretary, Guy Ribaudet, "are under an investigation which may last until the moment they leave the country."

Earnings, Dividends, Growth Set Selling Price

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "Recently I inherited several hundred shares of Continental Copper & Steel. I was told that their divisions are doing very well. If this is so, shouldn't the stock sell higher than 4½? Perhaps you can explain this. I would like to increase my holdings if desirable." H. G.

A) Please forgive my seeming to preach to you, but I have to point out that stocks sell on the fundamentals: earning power, dividends, and growth outlook. On all three of these counts, your Continental Copper stacks up very poorly, through no fault of its own. The company has been doing a good volume of business, but higher competition and rising costs resulted in a deficit for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1961, with only $0.22 a share earnings in fiscal 1962, and profits for the first half of fiscal 1963 sharply lower than in the previous year. Dividends have been omitted and the growth outlook is poor.

I advise you to sell a substantial proportion of your holdings and put the proceeds into Coastal States Gas.

Q) "I have accidentally destroyed some Series E savings bonds. Will you please let me know if they are traceable? Also please let me know whom I should contact in order to replace them." J. M.

A) This is a disturbing thing to have happen, but fortunately I believe your bonds can be replaced without too much difficulty.

The first thing to do is to go into your bank or into any Federal Reserve Bank and ask for a lost bond form, known as PD 1048 Treasury Department. You must fill out this form in the fullest detail. When completed, your signature must be certified by a postal official or a bank officer.

A Look at What Makes Some Places Grow While Other Areas Show Lag

EDITOR'S NOTE — Problems? Yours is a fortunate community if it's free of them but one community's toughest problem is likely to be unknown in many other localities. In this third of a four-part series, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, looks at what is making some places grow while others lag.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's economic growth rate is only a vague statistic in many places. Some communities, unfortunately, are lagging far behind. Others are growing so fast that talk of slowdowns seems silly. In these problems is to catch up on all the needs in the fields of civic services, housing and transportation facilities.

NO SHRINKING VIOLET—Whooping it up at a Rugby football finale is how St. Mary's Hospital medical student Mary Phillips acquired this futuristic make-up. It's of gentian violet, a laboratory dye, and was acquired during high jinks accompanying the match at Richmond, Surrey, England.

stores, office buildings. And the construction industry—one of the nation's largest—has a ragged regional pattern and in some places controversial prospects.

Allied Problem
An allied problem is the migration of industries. This can cause headaches for the losers, growing pains for the new localities. Chicago has had a loss of electronics orders, blaming the migration to California, the Gulf states, or to the complex around Boston which earlier suffered from the flight of textile mills to the South.

One industry communities can be hard hit by economic cycles that depress their particular activity, whether it be textiles, or coal, or autos, or steel or defense. San Diego, Calif., had rough going when the emphasis shifted from the airplanes it turned out, to the space age missile and other electronic wonders that cluster around Palo Alto and Los Angeles.

How Situation Turns
International politics can be just as troublesome. Example: Poultry growers in Maryland, Delaware and many parts of the Midwest have built up a big thing out of the European Common Market's discovery of frozen chicken. But now the European trading bloc talks of barring such American imports.

U.S. grain growers across the northern half of the country also are bothered by increasing European protectionism. Southern cotton growers watch Washington's efforts to sell the plentiful fiber to foreign textile mills. But sugar beet growers in Colorado and neighboring states, and cane growers along the Gulf stand to gain by the rise in sugar prices due to world shortages.

Japanese steel exports helped send down the price of the metal on the West Coast. Eastern mills complain of raids on their markets by Europeans. Oil imports are a burning question for price-conscious consumers on the Atlantic Coast and even more so for the producers of oil in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Any one of these problems—or its solution—can spell good times or bad for many communities.

Next: Why some sections still bubble.

A Pleading Note

PALMETTO, Fla. (AP)—This story was reported to the Palmetto Kiwanis Club as a true one: A harried father was listening to his 7-year-old son scratch away on his violin, while the family dog howled an anguished accompaniment. After a few minutes of the dissonant practice session the father asked his son: "Can't you play something the dog doesn't know?"

How many people would be willing to taste this peculiarly Scottish dish, haggis? Haggis consists of a calf's, sheep's or other animal's heart, liver and lungs, and also sometimes the smaller intestines, boiled in the stomach of the animal with seasoning, chopped fine suet and oatmeal. This food was quite common also in England until the 18th century.

Rockefeller Asks Easing of Costs On Unemployment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Legislature had a request from Gov. Rockefeller today to ease unemployment-insurance costs of stable employers, a move he said would "provide a further significant step in our program to encourage economic growth and fuller job opportunities."

In other announcements on his legislative program Tuesday, Rockefeller also:

— Said he had dropped plans for submitting this year a program for expanding medical education in the state because a study committee would not complete its report in time.

— Reported he had sent to the Legislature a bill to authorize localities to establish Community Development Corporations to construct cultural, civic and recreational facilities with funds that would be borrowed from the State Housing Finance Agency and repaid with revenues from the facilities built.

The governor's proposals on unemployment insurance were designed to deal with a major source of complaints from employers—that businesses with high employment were required to pay additional sums into the unemployment insurance fund to make up deficits caused by seasonal employers whose workers take more out than their companies put in.

At present, funds are diverted from accounts of stable employers into the general fund from which payments are made.

Rockefeller proposed an end to this diversion. While this would save the state employers $90 million a year, the funds that came from diversion would be made up through a special payroll tax on all employers.

There was no indication of the net savings to stable employers after the amount of diversion was reduced by the amount of the special taxes.

Junior Stars Induct Eight New Members

Eight new members were formally accepted into membership of Alice M. Scardefield Constellation of Junior Stars, 25, during the regular meeting Saturday night at Saugerties Masonic Temple.

Three of the new members are Kingston residents.

They are:

Karen C. Storms, Sandra Myers and Cheryl Hackney.

Other new members are:

Marsha L. Suenram, Whittier; Barbara Carr, Ellenville; Marilyn G. Miller, Ulster Park and Charlene Fiester and Linda L. Smith, both of Catskill.

Miss Donna Sloboda of Saugerties, exalted star of light and love, was assisted with the initiation of new members by Mrs. Marjorie Bertucci, chairman of sponsors and Miss Suzanne War-ringer, star of devotion.

During the business meeting plans were made for a record hop scheduled Saturday, April 20, at the YMCA in Kingston from 7 to 11 p. m.

Discussion also took place concerning an invitation to discuss a state-wide Constellation of Stars organization at Painted Post, near Binghamton, the weekend of May 10-11-12. Miss Donna Sloboda and Miss Judy Calderwood will attend as official delegates of Alice M. Scardefield 25. Reservations also may be made by other members of the local organization.

The next meeting will be held Saturday, April 27, at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue.

During the social hour Sharon Stahl and Guy Milroy entertained with electric guitar selections.

Some Vacancies at Ursula Academy; Third, Fifth Grades

A limited number of vacancies will exist in the third and fifth grades at the Academy of St. Ursula for the 1963-64 term.

Reservations for these two grades will take place on Thursday and Friday, April 4 and 5 from 3:30-4:30 p. m. in the principal's office of the elementary department.

The child is requested to accompany the parent at the time of registration.

Wiltwyck Unit

Wiltwyck Unit will meet at 408 Broadway on Tuesday, April 2. A covered dish luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock. Members who are donating casseroles or food to be served hot are asked to arrive early in order that the food may be heated and ready to serve. All members are requested to have their own place service.

A business meeting will be held after the luncheon. Mrs. Jacob Francis, chairman, will preside. A vote will be taken to determine where the annual spring luncheon will be held. All members are asked to attend.

West Hurley Unit

On Thursday, March 21, West Hurley Unit held its regular meeting in the school. Guest speaker was Mrs. Catherine Carlson, local attorney, who spoke on the topic "The Importance of Wills."

Mrs. Carlson is a member of the Ulster County Bar Association.

New Unit in Stone Ridge

A new unit has been organized in Stone Ridge. An organizational meeting was held on March 21 at the home of Mrs. Wilber Slawson. The group will be known as the Stone Ridge Unit.

Elected co-chairmen of the new unit were Mrs. Ronald Mapston and Mrs. Nicholas Hondro-costas. Other officers are Mrs. Ward Jansen, vice chairman, and Mrs. Kenneth L. Bell, secretary.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth L. Bell, Stone Ridge, on April 4 at 8 p. m.

A FRIEND INVITES HERSELF

Q: How can I tell a dear friend that she can't go along with us on a trip we are planning to take this summer? If all goes well, my husband and I are going to take a motor trip out west when he gets his vacation. When I mentioned this to my friend, she included herself by saying, "I hope I can save enough money by then to go along with you." This will be the first vacation my husband and I have been able to take in five years and we did want to go alone—sort of a second honeymoon. Will you please tell me how I can handle this situation tactfully and not hurt her feelings?

A: In the first place, with no suggestion from you, she should not have invited herself to go along. But as she has, the only thing you can do is to tell her frankly that much as you would like her to go along with you, this will be the first time in five years you and your husband have been able to take a vacation together and that John is looking forward to the trip as a sort of a second honeymoon. Surely your friend will understand and not be hurt.

A Newcomer Is Welcomed

Q: We have recently moved to a new community. Several days ago a neighbor called at our house but I was not at home. She left her visiting card. I would like to know what I am supposed to do now. Is the next move up to me? A: She has shown that she welcomes you to the community and you should now call at her house and explain how sorry you are that you were not at home when she called.

Jewelry From a Boy

Q: Is it proper for a girl to accept jewelry from a boy to whom she is not engaged?

A: A girl may not accept jewelry of value from a boy to whom she is not engaged. Inexpensive "costume" jewelry would be acceptable.

The clothes worn by the bride and groom as well as those worn by the attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party." ## We The Women Think Twice—Then, Don't

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Think twice before you—
Pass along a bit of gossip, even if you know for a fact that it is true. (Would you want that kind of story spread about you or a member of your family?)

Make a fuss about service.
(Sure you aren't just throwing your weight around?)

Monopolize the conversation when you are in a group. (Are you really that fascinating?)

Tell your troubles to anyone who will listen. (Others have troubles, too, remember.)

Tell a white lie just to save face. (Chances are you will be found out—and then, won't your face be red?)

Refuse to let a friend do you a favor. (Friendships are nourished not only by favors given, but by favors gratefully accepted.)

Run yourself down. (Sure you aren't just begging for compliments and reassurance?)

Offer unsought advice. (The fact your advice hasn't been sought may indicate it isn't wanted.)

Tell one of your favorite anecdotes. (Sure you haven't told it to the same persons before? If it's a favorite story, you probably have.)

Put another person in his place. (For this you will never be forgiven.)

Complain about how unfriendly you've found a new town or neighborhood. (Give others time to take you in. How about your own friendliness?)

Make any kind of promise without fully intending to keep it, whether it is convenient or not. (Broken promises can't be mended.)

Low-rate any member of your family or any of your in-laws.
(That's the worst kind of disloyalty.)

These little things count, too.

Security Seminar Facts Outlined For Local Lions

"National Security Seminar—an opportunity for an enlightened citizenry." This was the theme presented by Major Arthur Foehser to the Kingston Lions at their weekly club meeting. Major Foehser, guest speaker was introduced by Harold E. Keator Jr., membership chairman of the Civilian Seminar Committee. Major Foehser is Regular Army unit advisor to the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard of Kingston.

Cites Importance

Major Foehser, speaking on behalf of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, told of the importance of the seminar to be held, May 6-17, at the Kingston State Armory. He noted that the seminar will bring prestige to the city as Kingston is the only city to host the seminar in the whole northeast section of the United States.

More important he said, it will provide an opportunity for many Kingston residents to increase their knowledge of the capabilities of our nation, our allies and our potential enemies to wage war—either "hot" or "cold." The seminar will also aid the Kingston economy.

The lecturers for the seminar will be six highly trained, dedicated senior officers from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. The Industrial College is a military school which is principally concerned with the civilian economy and civilian-military relationships.

The speaker noted that the lectures will be illustrated with visual aids to increase understanding of their subjects and will be supplemented by appropriate movies and question and answer periods. A total of 32 lectures are planned.

Sponsored by Chamber

The seminar sponsored by Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, will be attended by many senior reserve officers, representatives from many areas, such as insurance, utilities, engineers, government agencies, education, women groups, hospitals and other industries. Interested citizens and residents are also invited to attend. The cost of the seminar is small. Business, industrial and professional firms or individuals may purchase transferable registrations. There is also a special fee for clergy, educators and women conferees.

The seminar, Major Foehser concluded "will give people an insight and understanding of world situations and problems so that they will become better equipped to make wiser decisions and function as a more informative and useful citizen."

In other club news it was announced that next week's guest speaker will be Alexander Aldrich, director of Division for Youth of the State of New York.

Future Secretaries To Tour IBM Plant

Approximately 32 junior girls from Kingston High School now in Mrs. Marion Murray's stenography class will journey to the IBM plant for a Career Day, March 28 and 29. The purpose of this trip will be for practical pre-orientation in an actual office environment before these students start their work experience program in the senior year.

The educational seminar for business students will explain to the students, secretarial techniques and various aspects of good business procedure in the modern office. Students will actually participate in this presentation and be encouraged to use the various types of equipment in the secretarial department. Arrangements for this trip are being made by Loryne Connick, head of business department and coordinator work experience program, Kingston High School.

Congress extends widows of former presidents the franking privilege for private correspondence.

Lame But Lionized

300 Will Honor Lehman on 85th

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert H. Lehman, a man experienced in broken bones and solid stamanship, goes to a party tonight—lame but lionized.

He is turning 85. "I break easily," said the old warrior of many a political crusade, now recovering from a broken left hip. "But I heal quickly."

There in Wheelchair

His birthday is actually Thursday, but his wife, Edith, is giving the party for him tonight, with about 300 close friends gathered around. He will go in a wheelchair, but this will be no damper on the occasion.

There will be dancing and dinner at the Plaza Hotel affair, along with many salutes to the millionaire humanitarian who for half a century triumphed in politics by not acting like a politician.

He never seemed to be regarded as "a politician in the usual sense," the New York Times once said, but primarily as "a man of good intentions."

His reputation for sincere integrity consistently carried him through, even when his bones gave in.

"He's had quite a few broken bones in the past. A broken leg twice and a broken shoulder, and now this broken hip," said Mrs. Lehman. "But thank goodness, he heals well and it doesn't hold him down."

"He keeps busy," Lehman, who served an unprecedented four terms as Democratic governor of New York, later as foreign relief administrator, and then as a U.S. senator, retired from public office in 1956, but has continued his interest—and influence—in political affairs.

He was a chief architect of the 1961 Democratic reform movement that put New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner in office in defiance of the regular party organization.

Restriction on Schedule

And he still has a flow of correspondence, and callers at his Park Avenue home. However, with the present broken hip, doctors have put restrictions on his schedule, for the time being.

"I'm not granting any interviews just now," he said. "If I gave one, I'd have to give a lot of others."

Known as a determined liberal and battler for civil rights, public housing, and against racial segregation and immigration restrictions, Lehman never has had the oratorical flair or halfhearted well met style of the usual campaigner.

Adlai Stevenson, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, once described him as building "a great career on principles and not principles on a career."

A stocky, square-jawed man, with beetling brows and bald head fringed with white, Lehman characteristically reads his speeches in a deep monotone, his attention riveted on his script, his glasses sliding down his nose.

"Too often, he once said, 'as we approach an election, people are prone to be more interested in how a candidate behaves before his election than in how he will behave after election.'"

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health will hold its annual meeting April 2 at 8 p. m. in the George Washington School cafeteria.

Mrs. Frieda H. Dingee, president of the association, will present the annual report. Election of new directors also will take place.

Dr. Leonard C. Lang, assistant commissioner of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene's Division of Community Services, will be the guest speaker. He has selected for his topic, "Developments in New York State's Community Health Program."

This annual meeting is open to the public and the association for Mental Health hopes that all interested citizens will attend.

No End to Strikes

PARIS (AP)—Social discontent continued high in France today with no end in sight to the strikes and riots plaguing President Charles de Gaulle's government.

Rail workers staged a series of two-hour strikes that disrupted commuter and long-distance train travel on the nationalized lines.

Allegheny Poses Usual Flood Woe

SALAMANCA, N. Y. (AP)—The Allegheny River reached flood stage today in this Southwestern New York city, where it forced the evacuation of two families.

Police said the river crested at stage. The flood danger, almost an annual spring occurrence here, was brought on by Tuesday's unseasonably warm temperatures and rain.

West of Olean, the water closed West River Road from the city to Four-Mile Valley Road. At Warren, Pa., the river was reported within 10 inches of flood stage Tuesday night.

North of Syracuse a two mile stretch of Route 298 was closed today as rain and thawing snow raised the waters of Cicero Swamp. The water was up to foot deep on the highway.

The Mohawk River near Schenectady has been rising rapidly but was three feet below flood level this morning.

It had not risen since, however, and there were no immediate plans to evacuate other families, authorities said.

The city's business district, lying south of the river, was among the areas facing the high water.

The two families were evacuated Tuesday night when the river reached within four inches of flood stage.

Accord Area Lenten Services Set Friday

The first of the union Lenten services of the Kerhonkson-Accord area will be held at the Accord Methodist Church, Friday, 8 p. m. The message will be delivered by the Rev. Paul Babich.

Fair Street, Old Dutch Tie in Senior Loop

Church Quintets Slate Playoff Monday at MJM

Fair Street Reformed Church and Old Dutch Church finished in a tie for first place in the second half of the Protestant Church Senior basketball league. The playoff game is scheduled Monday, April 1, at 7 p. m. at the MJM school gym.

Going into last night's games with 5-1 marks, Fair Street scored a 45-44 squeaker over Port Ewen Methodist and Old Dutch edged Redeemer Lutheran, 38-31.

In other games, Port Ewen Reformed topped St. James Methodist, 29-23, and Church of Comforter won from Hurley Reformed, 32-29.

Fair Street had to come from behind (trailing 39-34 at the three quarter mark) to nip Port Ewen in the last 10 seconds. Gary Ballou fouled Wayne Johnson on a driving layup deuce but Johnson failed to convert the free throw which would have knotted the contest.

Bud Burroughs was outstanding for the winners with 19 points. His "5 for 5" performance was a big factor in the Fair Street triumph. Dan Potter tallied 15 points for Port Ewen and furnished the momentum for an early lead. Brian Findholt gave a large assist to the Fair Street with 15 points.

All six Old Dutch players scored at least 4 points. F. DeTemple leading with 8. K. Nesland potted 13 for the losers. R. Petersen hit 11 for St. James and Mike Bush had 13 for Church of Comforter.

Lourdes Student Hits 300 Game at Hoe-Bowl Lanes

Ralph Spadaro, a 17-year-old student at Our Lady of Lourdes High School, rolled a 300 game last night in the Old-Hobo League, at the Hoe-Bowl Lanes in Poughkeepsie.

Spadaro, who hurls for the Lourdes baseball team, followed his perfect game with 183 and 209 for a 692 triple. It was the first perfect score in Poughkeepsie this year.

Spadaro carries a 181 average in the league and a 183 mark in the Invitational Classic.

Schatzel Leads On 598 Series

Rose Schatzel led the Bowlerama Quads with a 598 slam last night, but was quite willing to share the spotlight with several notable performances.

Mrs. Schatzel's games were 174, 222 and 202. Jacqueline Glaser rolled a career high series of 544, with solos of 194, 205 and 145.

Rose Nardi's 199-159-182 added up to a career high of 540 for her.

Connie Petersen posted all-time highs for herself with 191-490.

Other qualifying scores included: Claire Uhler 456, Lois Runge 461, Grace Wojciechowski 200-565, Rosemary Pillsworth 513, Elizabeth Smith 453, Kathy Diamond 460, Dorothy Crantz 466, Dot Rawding 204, 202-574, Nell Alverson 457, June Van Kleeck 520, Anne Hinkley 482, Martha Petersen 481, Marion Sanford 557, Hilda Murphy 563.

Team results:

Bernal Sales 2, Orchid Shoppe 1; Jones Dairy 2, P-L Rest 1; Ulster Tool and Die Corp. 0, Jake's Grill 3; Shoe Giant 1, Petersen Construction 2.

Murphy Leads On 186 Average

Jones Dairy (48-36) led Bernal Sales by a half game at the end of four rounds of play in the Bowlerama Quads league.

High average bowler was Hilda Murphy, whose 186 gave her a 4-point bulge over Rose Schatzel.

Phillip Davenport, a member of the Cornell University ski team, and Cathy Goffredi of Kingston captured the senior men's and women's titles, respectively, in the first annual Giant Slalom race at Highmount Ski Center.

Trailing Davenport, who was clocked in the fastest time of the day, were Tony Smith and Steve Erickson.

Dot Wright and Bev Greenberg chased Cathy Goffredi across the finish line in the senior women's event.

The remainder of the events were dominated by representatives of the Kingston Trail Sweepers Club.

The Junior boys trophy was won by Dale Brown, Neil Pauker placing second, Chris Moore, third, and Barry Finch, fourth. Linda Jensen captured the girls Junior race, followed by Sally Goffredi, Anna Weinberg and Terry Goffredi.

Final Competition

The races culminated the competitive calendar for the newly formed junior racing program of the Trail Sweepers. Regular instructions and competition has advanced the group from the beginner stage to more advanced proficiency, with some even reaching the expert stage.

As a team, the juniors captured six major trophies, four of them Rip Van Winkle Council trophies: Class III and IV team trophies; best boys team combined II and IV; best girls team combined I and II, and III and IV classes. They also took the Highmount ski area junior boys and girls trophies.

In seven races, the juniors captured 7 first places, 12 seconds, 10 thirds and 7 fourth places. An even more successful and enlarged program is anticipated for the 1963-64 season.

Highlight of the day was the presentation by the juniors of an engraved plaque to their racing coach, Peter Martini, who was highly lauded for his interest and efforts in behalf of the youngsters.

MR. RANGER: But you won two straight last month. You never catch me doing that.

MR. KNICK: I'm sorry. The other clubs were tired. They played a double header in Nome the night before.

MR. TITAN: Harry said I should have the job.

MR. MET: How many did you lose?

MR. TITAN: I'm not sure. We can't find two witnesses to our games. But Harry said I should have the job on lack of attendance.

MR. RANGER: He's got a point. The rest of us keep drawing people who pay to see us.

MR. KNICK: I'm big in Hershey, Pa. With Chamberlain got 100 points against me there. Elsewhere I find it best to keep moving.

MR. MET: Enough of this chit-chat. Let's organize our Hate the New York Yankees week.

MR. TITAN: And the New York Giants, my football rivals.

MR. MET: We'll have one Hate Week for each. Those guys are a disgrace to New York.

Knicks, Titans, Rangers, Mets All Cellar Dwellers

NEW YORK (AP) — News item:

The New York Knicks were the first team eliminated from the National Basketball Association playoffs. The New York Titans of the American Football League are in bankruptcy court. The New York Rangers missed the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs again. The New York Mets are the unanimous choice to repeat in 10th place in the National League.

Scene: A meeting of the Losers' Club of New York. A crippled old man in a baseball suit is in the chair, beneath a sign proclaiming the club motto: "There's No Home Like the Cellar."

MR. MET: The meeting will come to order.

MR. KNICK: What are you doing in the chair? I should have the job on seniority. Four years in last place.

MR. RANGER: How about me? I haven't won the Stanley Cup since 1940.

MR. TITAN: Harry Wismer, said I should have the job.

MR. MET: It's mine. I lost 120 games last year and they called off two on account of pity. I should do even better this year. My best outfielder quit to go on the radio for the Phillies, and my 24-game loser was a holdout.

MR. KNICK: I lost 51 in 1962, and I only played 80. I almost made it 60 last season. I wound up with one center in the hospital and the other pitching for the Red Sox. Four fellows in my last starting line-up walked in off the street.

Fix Story Restores Mystery Long Absent From Football

By HARRY GRAYSON

Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

The great fix plot in The Saturday Evening Post restores the mystery long gone from college football.

To football people, a celebrated head coach of a major university telephoning to ask the athletic director of an opponent for his plays is unbelievable.

Did Bear Bryant of Alabama require information about a Georgia football squad the book-makers said his Tide figured to beat by from 14 to 17 points? Like he needed one-legged runners. No one was surprised when Alabama ran all over the place, 35-0.

Libel suits are being prepared and no one wants to prejudge the case against The Saturday Evening Post, a fine old institution which has been having financial and editorial problems. But school boys wouldn't have been stupid enough to say what an Atlanta insurance man claims to have heard Bryant and Wally Butts, then of Georgia, say in a crossed-wire telephone conversation.

Men capable of fixing a football game most certainly would have met to discuss their plans. No sensible person would attempt to outline the intricacies of a modern college football attack and defense during a telephone call.

On top of that, Bryant probably knew more about the Georgia varsity than Butts or its head coach, John Griffith. It is the business of a coaching staff to know the opposition as well as its own people.

Secret practice and all that foolishness passed out of college football after World War I, when the game grew up. In the mid-1920's, the late Howard Jones, then enying his top success, diagrammed every play Southern California intended to run and invited me to publish them in a Los Angeles newspaper.

Until then football coaches had me completely sold on the cloak-and-dagger stuff just like everybody else.

"Wouldn't that be tipping your mitt, Coach?" I asked Jones.

"So what?" replied the great coach. "Don't you think Knute Rockne and the rest know what we're going to run? They'd be poor coaches if they didn't. But the trick is that they don't know when we're going to run it."

Coaching staffs have exchanged game films for years. Why, a football writer can go to any Ivy League school on the Thursday before a game, see the pictures and talk by telephone to the opposing coach. And none of them pulls any punches.

Getting back to the Alabama-Georgia charges, one question Bryant is alleged to have asked Butts was "How about quick kicks?" And Butts reportedly replied, "Don't worry about quick kicks. They don't have anyone who can do it."

Bear Bryant must have laid awake nights worrying about Georgia quick kicking to a team capable of scoring every time it got the ball!

City Cage Tournament Commences Saturday

Action in the 10th annual Kingston Basketball tournament will get underway Saturday with a doubleheader on tap. In the 7:30 opener, Dosey's of Poughkeepsie will play Tony's Pizzeria of Kingston. Rhinebeck will oppose the Pine Plains Bombardiers in the second attraction.

Amateurs, Old Timers Out

3Ps---Palmer, Player and Pott Top Rated in Masters Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Watch out for the three P's—Palmer, Player and Pott—and write off the amateurs, oldsters and outsiders in next week's Masters Golf Tournament, Fred Corcoran said today.

"I'd have to pick Arnold Palmer to win again," the director of the International Golf Association added. "He is playing superbly—hitting his approach shots right on the pin and putting exceptionally well."

"Gary Player also is on top of his game and supremely confident. Of the outside threats, you have to take Johnny Pott. He is a tremendous hitter who will be favored by the broad Augusta Fairways, and also a fine putter."

Corcoran, credited with starting the PGA tour toward its present multimillion-dollar status, has returned home after watching a dark horse, Dan Sikes, win the Doral Open—the second long shot in as many weeks to whip the top pros in Florida. Ray Floyd captured the St. Petersburg Open the week before.

"Nobody is going to come out of the clouds to win the Masters," Corcoran said. "The Augusta course is too big and too tough. It takes a finished golfer to whip it."

Play Opens April 4

The Masters is scheduled April 4-7.

Corcoran, a thick-necked Bostonian who runs the Canada Cup and International matches, predicted that no amateur nor old timer would be able to finish in the top 15.

"Now that Jack Nicklaus has turned pro, the amateur threat has completely vanished," the husky, executive and promoter said. "And there are too many hills for the old fellows at Augusta."

"Sam Snead, who has won three Masters, might have a chance but he has a bad foot and says he doesn't know whether he can stand up under the grind. It's going to be equally tough for fellows like Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson."

Nats and Pistons Are Eliminated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It will be Cincinnati vs. Boston and St. Louis vs. Los Angeles in the best-of-7 divisional finals in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Cincinnati and St. Louis qualified Tuesday night by winning the Eastern and Western Division semifinals, respectively. Cincinnati beat Syracuse in overtime 131-127 and St. Louis defeated Detroit 104-100. Both broke the home court advantage that had stood up in every previous playoff game.

The Royals vs. Celtics series opens in Boston Thursday night. The Hawks-Lakers series gets underway Sunday in Los Angeles.

Oscar Robertson sparked Cincinnati with 32 points as the Royals, trailing 88-83 after three quarters, came from behind to defeat Syracuse in the fifth and deciding game of their best-of-5 series.

A severe winter has combined with late thawing to curtail drastically the state's stocking of yearling trout in lakes, ponds and streams.

Only 200,000 yearlings will have

AROUND THE GOLF WORLD

with Gene Sarazen

GENE LITTLER AND CADDY IN SCOTLAND
"Sometimes the caddy can give the golfer helpful hints."

2-Caddy or Pro?

With automobiles, golf in colleges, money for instruction and access to courses, American kids of today have it better than the youngsters of my generation.

At the risk of being branded an old fuddy-duddy, however, I must say that I don't believe they learn golf as thoroughly as we who had to caddy for spending and sometimes eating—money.

Not that I'm against professional instruction. On the contrary, I don't believe that anyone can be a really good golfer, regardless of how great his potential, without sound advice from a good pro. Even the greatest got it early in their careers and still can't do without the pro. They turn to a teaching pro from time to time to iron kinks out of their games.

A caddy is around golf and golfers most of his out-of-school time. Caddies see the form that brings results and instinctively adopt it. At the same time they see and reject bad form as being unproductive. Any time a caddy shows promise, some pro is bound to take an interest in him—and the boy gets the instruction he needs to develop his game.

Sometimes, as in Scotland where bag toting is a lifetime occupation, the caddy knows so much he can give the golfer helpful hints.

It was the sound grounding in basics I got as a caddy that gave me the enthusiasm I have for golf.

NEXT: Winter putting.

Cooled-Off Reds Offer Little to Cuban Solidarity

NITEROI, Brazil (AP)—A subdued "Cuban solidarity conference" offered muted support to Fidel Castro today, cooled off by militant anti-Communist pressure and a five-mile ferryboat ride. Gov. Carlos Lacerda of Guanabara State, a fiery foe of communism, blocked the pro-Castro Brazilians from meeting in Rio de Janeiro and chased them across Rio's Guanabara Bay Tuesday night. Lacerda denounced the conference as subversive. Rio police arrested 53 delegates before they could make it out of Guanabara State, which includes Rio, and take the five-mile ferry ride to Niteroi.

Gov. Badger Silveira of Rio de Janeiro State said he would permit the congress to meet in Niteroi, the state capital, because the "Brazilian constitution guarantees freedom of assembly and thinking." Less than 400 Castroite diehards finally opened the conference here, 90 minutes behind schedule, in a sparkling new naval workers union hall.

It was more like a capitalistic stockholders' meeting than a revolutionary reunion. There were no Cuban flags or symbols and no Havana-style harangues as the weeklong congress opened. The only delegate of national importance present was Francisco Juliao, boss of Brazil's northeast peasant leagues.

Diminutive, mustachioed Gen. Luis Gonzaga Leite presided at the opening session and read a long statement of Cuban sufferings which he attributed to "Yankee imperialism." His delivery had little fire.

See Completion Of School Board Candidate List

The Nonpartisan Nominating Committee hopes to complete its consideration of potential candidates for the Board of Education of Kingston City Schools, Consolidated, and announce its endorsements after a meeting Thursday 8 p. m. in the library of the George Washington School.

Two positions on the school board are to be filled by election May 7.

The Nonpartisan Nominating Committee, a citizens' group independent of any ties with the school board or any individual party, consists of members-at-large and members appointed to it by qualified nonpartisan civic organizations. Its purpose is to seek out qualified candidates who have no particular "ax to grind," but who hold upmost the best interests of the school district and its children.

Claim-Jumping Troubles

Knight Going Ahead For Rocky Despite 'Deplorable Move'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is having political claim-jumping troubles where he least wants them—in California—in his quest for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The New York governor tried Tuesday to knock down a stake raised by former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who would like to head a Rockefeller delegate slate in next year's California primary. The governor called Knight's move setting up a Rockefeller-for-President organization in California "an unauthorized action, one that I deplore." Asked at a news conference in Albany if he was repudiating the Knight movement, Rockefeller replied: "I don't know how I can go any further."

In Los Angeles, Knight said he intends to go ahead. Rockefeller disclosed that he had conferred by telephone with former Vice Preside Richard M. Nixon, former Sen. William Knowland and former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco.

He said all agreed that emphasis now should be put on unifying and strengthening California GOP forces, not on deciding on 1964 candidates.

Left out of this consultation was GOP Sen. Thorton H. Kuchel, who won re-election by a 714,000 vote margin last year when Nixon was defeated in his bid to unseat Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Kuchel has been keeping his own counsel about whom he favors for the 1964 nomination. But he seems likely to have a place among state delegates who will cast a hefty ballot total at the party's nominating convention.

Kuchel declined comment on the Rockefeller's desire to stay clear of the intraparty melee into which California Republicans have plunged since Nixon failed to unseat Brown last November.

Conservatives seeking to tal over the party machinery and its appendages mostly are against Rockefeller.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Austria's longest government crisis in postwar history is over but nobody seems very happy.

Another coalition government of Socialists and Conservatives, the parties which have ruled the country since 1945, was formed Tuesday night after five months of negotiations.

Independent papers attacked the government decision to cover an expected budget deficit by raising taxes. So did many Socialists. Two Conservative leaders reportedly felt their faction had given too much to the Socialists.

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—Gunfire cracked from a dark hillside Tuesday night, wounding one soldier in an Italian artillery barracks.

It was the first violence for months in the Alto Adige region near the Austrian frontier where German-speaking residents have been agitating for more autonomy.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Syria's revolutionary regime has put 27 more leaders of the regime ousted into "political quarantine," stripping them of civil rights and banning them from public activity.

Previously 74 politicians and army officers had been quarantined for periods ranging from 5 to 10 years.

'Best News in Long Time'

Bataan Survivor Says On Drop-Payment Move

ONARGA, Ill. (AP)—A Bataan death march survivor and his family expressed happiness today after the State Department said it has temporarily suspended attempts to collect payments of World War II emergency relief.

The State Department maintains that the family of Noble Frank Smith owes $1,421 for relief provided to Viola Smith and her son, Carl, while they were interned in the Far East by the Japanese during World War II.

'Real Happy'

Smith, 47, an ex-Marine told The Associated Press Tuesday night: "I'm real happy about it. I'm not only happy for myself, but for others in similar circumstances."

His wife said: "This is the best news I've had in a long time." Smith said that the State Department has told him there are some 2,000 persons in the nation who owe it money for various reasons, including war relief.

In Washington, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., who asked the State Department to delay its demand for payment, has introduced a bill which would cancel the debt. A spokesman for Douglas said the department did not agree to put off attempting to collect the payments pending the outcome of the Douglas bill but agreed to waive the Thursday deadline it had set for payment.

Dunned Since '50s

Smith said the State Department has dunned the family for payment since the 1950s, adding that each bill was larger because of accrued interest. He maintains that the government has nothing coming, adding: "They are not going to get the money."

Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., said he would attempt to have the State Department cancel Smith's bill.

The Smiths were married while he was serving with the Marines in Shanghai before World War II. Mrs. Smith was employed as a secretary for General Motors Corp.

When war loomed, Smith was transferred to the Philippines. His wife, the daughter of a white Russian mother, and a Portuguese father who was born in Hong Kong, stayed behind. Before she was able to follow her husband, Shanghai fell to the Japanese. Both she and her son, Carl, now 22, were interned with other Americans in Shanghai.

It was during this time that federal funds were supplied the interned refugees through an arrangement with the Swiss Embassy.

Have Five Children

Smith was captured by the Japanese at Bataan, survived the infamous death march and spent the remainder of the war in prison camps.

The Smiths now have five children, 6 to 22 years old. They operate a 160-acre farm near Onarga. Smith also operates a small company which manufactures grave vaults in Onarga, a town of about 1,500 some 125 miles south of Chicago.
